Dockers Rap Demands Of Employers

Elimination Of Jobs Wholesale Is Cited In T-H Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — The International Longshoremen's Assn. contended at the start of a Taft-Hartley emergency fact-finding hearing today that employer demands in the dock workers' strike would eliminate jobs wholesale.

The argument was set forth by ILA attorney Louis Waldman in a statement filed with the three-man panel named Tuesday by President Eisenhower. Creation of the board was the first step toward obtaining a back-to-work injunction halting the strike for 80 days of cooling off and bargaining.

The fact-finders were prepared to hear four employer and three union witnesses but hoped to complete the hearing today. This would permit speedy action cutting off the strike—perhaps a fact finding report Wednesday followed Friday by a U. S. District Court order.

Waldman told the fact-finders the New York Shipping Assn. had served rigorous demands on the union to permit greater automation in cargo handling.

Automation in the past three years has "threatened to deprive ILA members of substantial numbers of jobs and earning opportunities," Waldman said.

In New York the ILA protested the Taft-Hartley action, but a spokesman said "we always obey the government."

Declaring the strike would "imperil the national health and safety," President Eisenhower invoked the Taft-Hartley national emergency provisions Tuesday for the 16th time since the law's enactment in 1947.

He named a three-man fact-finding team headed by Washington attorney Guy Farmer, former chairman of the National Labor Relations Board.

Farmer quickly summoned the ILA and waterfront employers to a hearing today. He told newsmen he expected to complete it today.

That jibed with word from other officials that the administration has fixed a fast timetable for settlement of the stevedores' strike, which could cripple quickly the commerce of the Atlantic Coast.

When the fact-finders' report is received by Eisenhower, he can instruct the attorney general immediately to seek an injunction in U.S. District Court, in New York, Washington or elsewhere. This would oblige the strikers and employers to resume dock operations while their principals go back to bargaining.

There still was no sign in Washington, however, that Eisenhower plans to move with similar speed to end the 85-day strike of 500,000 steelworkers.

Weirton Youth Draws Prison

1-5 Years Imposed In Jailbreak Case

One of two prisoners who escaped from the Hancock County Jail in New Cumberland Sept. 11 and spent 39 hours of freedom before his capture was sentenced to a 1-5 year term in Moundsville State Penitentiary Tuesday in Circuit Court.

Judge J. Harold Brennan imposed the sentence on Walter Cox Steiner Jr., 19, who made the escape along with a companion, Robert T. Williams, 29, also of Weirton.

Steiner, in jail for being AWOL from the Navy at the time of the escape, was reprimanded severely by Judge Brennan and then sentenced on charges of jailbreaking and aiding and abetting in the escape.

Both charges are misdemeanors, overruling a felony charge of felonious assault on Deputy William King, whom the prisoners slugged during their break to freedom.

Sheriff's deputies said Steiner will probably be made to serve the maximum 5 years due to his record.

Williams is scheduled to be sentenced this week, along with Donald Beck of Chester, charged with aiding in the escape of the pair.

Two other men already are serving 1-5-year terms in Moundsville for aiding in the escape.

Ronald O. Howell, 20, of East Liverpool, and Duane Mercer, 23, of New Cumberland, entered the penitentiary Friday. They pleaded guilty to charges of aiding the jailbreak.

Beck entered an innocent plea to conspiring in the escape and is expected to change his plea this week and be sentenced immediately.

City's First Semi-Finalists

2 Scholars Rated

For the first time since participating in the program, two East Liverpool High School seniors have been named semi-finalists in the 1959-60 national merit scholarship competition, Principal George Hargraves announced today.

Robert Alan Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Richard Jones, 1520 Wyoming Ave., and Miss Elsa Ann Rubin, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Herschel Rubin, 324 W. 4th St., are among the 466 semi-finalists in Ohio and 10,000 throughout the nation.

Two other students in the county also have qualified as semi-finalists, the National Merit Scholarship Corp. announced. They are Caroline Janet Dey of East Palestine High School and Susanne L. Eckman of United High School.

Jones scored 158 to rank 14th in the state among the 28,188 from 785 high schools who took the test last spring. Miss Rubin scored 145. The top score in the state was 161

Jones is president of the Student Council, a member of the National Honor Society, Keramos Echo staff, Potter Police and Key Club while Miss Rubin is a member of Student Council, Hi-Tri, National Honor Society, Keramos Echo and Science Club.

Both also are straight-A students and members of honors classes, Hargraves said.

As semi-finalists, the four county winners now face another rigorous three-hour examination, the scholastic aptitude test of the college entrance examination board to further confirm their high scores.

The test will be given at centers throughout the country on Dec. 5 and those who repeat their

Herter Cites Mr. K Trouble In Red China

Secretary Hints Of Block In Campaign For Easing Tensions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev apparently has run into trouble in his campaign to get Communist China to join in reducing East-West tensions.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, summing up his impression of Khrushchev's visit to Peiping following his Camp David talks, told newsmen: "I would say that I can see no visible easing of tensions as between Chinese Communists and ourselves."

Herter also suggested the possibility of a split in the foreign policy lines of the Soviet and Red Chinese governments. He noted that Khrushchev had "talked quite eloquently" during his Chinese trip about solving international problems by peaceful means and that Chinese Communist leader Mao Tse-tung "never made any statement at all."

This striking contrast of behavior coupled with the Chinese Reds' continued denunciation of the United States as "imperialist" and "aggressive" seemed to indicate that Khrushchev and the Soviet government "are taking a rather different line." Herter said, "from that of the Communist Chinese."

Khrushchev went to Peiping after touring the United States. He is believed to have given the Chinese Reds a full account of his talks with President Eisenhower during which Eisenhower and he agreed that "all outstanding international question" should be settled by peaceful negotiations.

Herter, in his first news conference here since early July, said he thought the Khrushchev trip to the United States had resulted in some easing of tensions between the United States and the Soviet Union.

As to the long-range value of the visit, Herter said "time will tell, but I would like to be optimistic."

The Eisenhower - Khrushchev agreement on Berlin — providing that future negotiations may run on indefinitely — has had the effect of lifting the Soviet threat to try to force the Western Allies out of West Berlin, Herter said in response to a question. But there was no agreement, he added, on any new plan for settling the Berlin dispute.

GOP Studies Squeeze Play In Hampshire

Wonders If It May Affect Presidential Nomination Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans wondered today whether a political squeeze play is developing in New Hampshire that could affect the 1960 GOP presidential nomination contest.

Gov. Wesley Powell said Tuesday he is prepared to support Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH) as a favorite son candidate. That came as chilling news for supporters who have been trying to get New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller into the state's presidential primary next March.

There is speculation that if the senator were to let his name go into the primary, there would not be much room left for either Rockefeller or Vice President Richard M. Nixon to enter the contest.

Since Bridges is tabbed as an out-and-out Nixon supporter, a favorite son delegation could be expected to throw its support to the vice president at the July party convention.

On the other hand, Nixon's friends were obviously disappointed by Powell's fresh declaration at a news conference that he is maintaining neutrality between Nixon and Rockefeller.

Asked to evaluate their qualifications for the presidential nomination the governor said he regards them so far as equal.

Because Powell is a former protege of and administrative assistant to Bridges, Nixon's backers had hoped the governor would be on their side.

But Powell may face a stiff fight for renomination and reelection next year. Some New Hampshire politicians thought his comment about Bridges might be a means of sidestepping a direct presidential stand now to await further developments.

Killed In Collision

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP)—Thomas D. Ward, 41, of Akron died today in a collision of two automobiles at the intersection of U.S. 224 and Ohio 532, near Mogadore. Wilbur J. Miller, 35, of Mogadore, driver of the other car, was reported in fair condition.

Ike May Act Thursday In Steel Strike

Will End Vacation Thursday, Heading Back To Capital

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—President Eisenhower, his vacation to shake a cold nearing an end, spends his last full day in the Southern California sunshine today.

Early Thursday morning the President will head back to Washington by jet plane. He is scheduled to arrived in the capital in late afternoon.

Barring a sudden settlement of the 85-day-old steel strike, or definite evidence of progress toward a union-management agreement, Eisenhower may invoke the Taft-Hartley act in that dispute shortly after his return.

In Los Angeles a group of striking steel workers announced plans to drive to the President's vacation retreat today to protest what they term "threatened use of the slave-labor Taft-Hartley injunction" provisions for a back-to-work court order.

Manuel Sierras, president of United Steelworkers Local 2058, said he would lead a motorcade of members and their families to Eisenhower's headquarters at nearby La Quinta, Calif.

Before leaving Washington a week ago today the President implied he would wait at least nine days—until his return—before deciding whether to seek an 80-day back-to-work court order under the Taft-Hartley national emergency provisions.

Woman Clerk Left On Road After Beating

SUMMITVILLE — Investigation continued today in an assault of Miss Coletta Kelly, 44, veteran Franklin Township clerk who reported she was dragged from her car and beaten by an assailant Monday night.

Chief Deputy Sheriff James Miller and Franklin Township Constable Forrest Young are studying clues in the attack which Miss Kelly said occurred as she was en route to a township trustees meeting.

She said her car was forced off the roadway about a mile from home and she was struck on the head, then taken from the auto and gagged with her scarf.

She said she was not molested in any other manner.

Trustee Fred Rogers discovered her lying beside her auto about an hour later as he drove to the meeting, for which he was late. She was taken to a Salineville physician who treated her for shock.

Authorities reported she said she had been threatened by letter before, but she threw the letters away and paid no attention.

Officials said they are checking persons whose names were in the letters. It was indicated a political dispute may be involved.

Driving Storm Leaves 0.8-Inch Of Rainfall

A heavy storm with lashing winds drenched the East Liverpool area with 0.8-inch of rain late Tuesday and intermittent showers through the night helped lower temperatures.

The storm struck about 6 p. m. midway in a period of an alert that had been issued by the Ohio Weather Bureau about noon. The elert had forecast severe thunderstorms with damaging winds in parts of four states. The winds here were estimated at 25-to 30-mile velocity with heavier gusts.

Dam 8 recorded the main precipitation from the storm, which ended about 7:30. Showers occurred from 8:45 to 10:45 last night and again at 1:45 to 1:55 this morning. There was light rain at periods during the forenoon.

The storm dropped the mercury from an afternoon high of 81 degrees to 72 degrees by 9 p. m.

Soviet Space Lab Continues Planned Orbit

Rounds Moon But Reds Silent About Planet's Other Side

MOSCOW (AP)—Lunik III, the Soviet Union's newest space traveler, apparently was continuing on its planned orbit today after rounding the moon, but the Soviets so far have not said what it found on the other side.

Word of what the flying laboratory observed on the face of the moon never seen by man may come after Lunik's next transmission of data, scheduled from 10 to 11 a.m. Eastern Daylight Time today.

A Soviet announcement Tuesday night said the cosmic rocket reached a point 7,000 kilometers — 4,349.6 miles — from the moon at 10:16 a. m. Eastern Daylight Time Tuesday and then "kept its movement turning around the moon."

By noon, the announcement continued, the rocket was 15,000 kilometers — 9,320.5 miles—from the moon's surface and continuing "on its predetermined orbit." This was supposed to take it on around the moon and into a long oval orbit around the earth at the other end.

At that time, the Soviets said, the Lunik was 230,925 miles from the earth, over the Atlantic Ocean.

British scientists listening in on the satellite during its long journey were mystified Tuesday when Lunik's steady bleep suddenly changed to a rhythmic fading and swelling. This occurred about the time it was scheduled to pass behind the moon.

The change in signal patterns was picked up quickly at Jodrell Bank, England, by the world's largest radio telescope.

Plans 'Metermaids'

NEW YORK (AP)—The city today began taking applications for 100 "metermaids." The maids, who can be anywhere from 21 to 45 years old, are wanted to tend parking meters and enforce the regulations on the meters, issuing summonses for violations. The starting salary is $3,150 a year.

'21' TV Show Branded As 'Fix, Fraud'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional committee expects to finish today its sometimes hilarious revival of the television quz show "Twenty-One." So far it has been a story of fix, fraud and doublecross.

Called as the windup witness on "Twenty-One" was Richard Jackman, a former contestant who is said to have told a New York grand jury the show was crooked. Jackman is an organizer for the International Ladies Garment Workers Union.

The House subcommittee on Legislative Oversight then planned to turn its spotlight on another TV quiz—"Dotto," the first of the shows to collapse under fraud charges. This started a chain of events that brought to an end the era of huge money prizes and strained, sweating faces peering out of isolation booths.

The story of the doublecross was unfolded by James Snodgrass, 37, a New York artist. He testified that he brought "Twenty-One's" producers to the verge of panic by giving the correct answer to a question he said they told him to miss.

When the show ended, Snodgrass said, producer Albert Freedman "came to my dressing room and said I had ruined him." Snodgrass wound up with a comparatively measly $4,000.

Echoing testimony by Herbert Stempel, another former contestant, Snodgrass said he, too, had been supplied in advance with questions and answers and even coached on dress, mannerisms and gestures.

The doublecross came, Snodgrass said, when Freedman instructed him to miss a question and thus lose a month-long running contest with Hank Bloomgarden, also of New York.

"What made you balk?" asked Robert W. Lishman, subcommittee counsel.

Staff At Home To Ask Parley With Officials

Workers Air Dispute With Commissioners Over Wage Request

LISBON — A representative of employes of the County Home is scheduled to ask county commissioners for another meeting before Friday on a request for a pay increase and shorter working hours.

Nine employes, along with Atty. Richard Kennedy, retained to represent the staff, met at the home Tuesday to discuss the commissioners' rejection of a $10 a month pay hike and one day off each week — a plan on which employes said agreement had been reached with the commissioners earlier.

Atty. Kennedy of Lisbon today said the pay increase, effective Nov. 1, along with the day off, was included in the agreement he reached with the commissioners Friday and accepted by the workers Saturday.

The employes stipulated the salary question should be reviewed again in three months.

However, Commissioners Frank Wilson and Walter Hunston failed to support a motion by R. Max Gard, chairman, Monday to grant the pay increase and day off.

At yesterday's meeting, some employes wanted to leave their jobs immediately, while others said the original request for a $20 a month pay boost should be sought.

Atty. Kennedy said the average hourly rate of the 14 employes is 55 cents. He said over half the workers do not live at the home, and receive from one to three meals, estimating the cost of meals and lodging at $40 a month.

Commissioner Hunston has explained he did not support Gard's motion because he wishes to get more information about the employes from Supt. Russell Phillis. Commissioner Wilson said he is against a pay boost because of the adverse publicity.

Atty. Kennedy said he will seek a meeting with the commissioners Thursday.

Wage-Policy Committee Is Sent Home

Further Indication Negotiations Are Hopelessly Blocked

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald said today his union will use every legal means to avoid a Taft-Hartley court injunction in the 85-day-old nationwide steel strike.

The union president made the statement after sending home the USW's 170-member Wage Policy Committee — a further indication that negotiations are hopelessly stalemated.

McDonald said if President Eisenhower invokes the Taft-Hartley Act and a court injunction is issued to put the mills back into operation for an 80-day cooling period, the half-million striking Steelworkers "will obey the law of the land."

But he emphasized that the union is strongly opposed to use of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Top steel industry executives and heads of the United Steelworkers held a 90-minute summit meeting Tuesday night. It ended on a hopeless note.

Roger M. Blough, U.S. Steel Corp. board chairman and spokesman for the industry group, said the union is "unalterable in its position."

President David J. McDonald of the Steelworkers, who requested the summit conference, said industry is "not flexible."

"They remain adamant," the union leader said.

There were no negotiations scheduled for today — the eve of President Eisenhower's implied deadline for using the Taft-Hartley Act which could send workers back to the mills for an 80-day cooling-off period.

The wage policy committee Monday rejected the latest industry offer as completely unsatisfactory.

The industry said its offer would give workers a 15-cent hourly package increase during the life of a two-year contract. The union said the offer would come closer to gains of 10 cents an hour in the two years.

Blough said the union's demands for wage and fringe benefit increases would cost the industry about 60 cents an hour over a three-year period. The union estimated its demands at 15 cents an hour for each year.

Both sides expressed a willingness to continue negotiations, but neither side made any known move to schedule another meeting.

The top industry officials said they planned to remain in Pittsburgh through the day. But they said they expected any further peace talks to be conducted by the industry team headed by R. Conrad Cooper, a U.S. Steel Corp. vice president.

As the strike—already the longest in steel industry history—grew older, once healthy steel reserves began to play out. Production and employment began to sag in direct proportion.

Total unemployment in industries dependent on steel already has risen to more than 200,000. The situation is expected to get progressively worse.

Pennsylvanian Given Term In Penitentiary

Glenn McCoy, 45, of Rochester, was sentenced to 1-7 years at the Ohio Penitentiary at Columbus Tuesday after a Common Pleas Court jury found him guilty of larceny in 20 minutes of deliberation at Lisbon.

McCoy was indicted for the theft of $92 worth of wire from the Ohio Edison Co. at Salem Aug. 11. He was sentenced by Judge Joel H. Sharp, who presided at the two-day trial.

A jury was to be selected this morning in the trial of Rosalie Barber, 19, of Wellsville R. D. charged with pointing and discharging firearms in the wounding of her mother Aug. 25.

New Cumberland Council Appoints Town Supervisor

Council Tuesday night approved the application of Jacob Baxter, a councilman, as maintenance supervisor on a temporary basis.

Baxter, a Hancock County sheriff's deputy, succeeds Joseph Rainey, 37, who resigned early in September.

A licensed pump operator, Baxter's salary was set at $100 a month. The principal duty is operation of the town water system.

Council was advised by John Shemenski, of the A. R. Todd engineering firm, that a report for the Public Service Commission to be used in establishing sewage disposal rates to finance the construction of a new plant will be completed sometime this month.

The report, being completed by Shemenski and Mrs. Mary Lou Wagner, clerk, requires data from operations of the water department during the last six years.

Bomb Explosion Fatal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — James Henson, 17, home here on leave from Ft. Knox, Ky., died Tuesday of injuries received a week earlier when a homemade bomb exploded in his hand, apparently following an argument between Henson and his young girl friend, Joyce Streets. The girl, also of Columbus, also injured in the blast is reported in good condition.

Crew Begins Razing Work

The M. & S. Wrecking Co. of Youngstown has started work on razing a brick and frame building at 125-127 W. 6th St., opposite City Hall, to clear the site for establishment of a metered off-street parking lot.

Safety-Service Director Joseph F. Ross said the work will be completed in 30 days—sometime in early November.

The city acquired the building about two months ago for $17,000 from Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Rapport of Thompson Ave. About $3,000 more will be spent in blacktopping the cleared site and installing parking meters. Revenue from the meters will liquidate the cost.

The Youngstown concern submitted the lowest bid when the director and Mayor Fred P. Lawrence opened sealed offers in September. M. & S. offered to do the work for $1, plus the rights to all salvageable material.

The building formerly was occupied by the Bennett Grocery and the Instant Lunch. The grocery did not reopen after a serious fire in 1958 and the lunchroom has not operated for several months.

The wrecking crew started the demolition work in the rear, so that no progress is apparent yet to passersby on W. 6th.

Happy New Year For Steel?

If you were a decision-maker in the steel industry, what would you do?

You would do what the decision-makers in management and union control seem to intend to do.

You would let the White House break the deadlock over a new labor contract by ordering the steel industry to go back to work for 80 days under the Labor-Management Act.

You would let government bail you out of the trickiest, toughest jam you ever got into—whether you are making decisions for management or unionism.

And because government is everybody's whipping boy, you would blame government for everything your critics said.

THIS IS WHY President Eisenhower wanted to keep government out of the steel strike.

The instant government steps in, private responsibility sags and lags.

Everybody shifts the blame to the politicians — and politicians are just as fond of saving their necks as anybody else.

Politicians do not like to be "fall guys" and "setups" for their constituents. They do not like to be put in the middle.

That is where management and labor put them in the steel strike.

Management and labor whale the daylights out of each other in their versions of industrial warfare, then demand that public officials pick up the pieces and kiss all the hurt places.

President Eisenhower knows how it works. He wanted to avoid government intervention. He wanted the steel industry to settle its own dispute.

Either there was going to be free collective bargaining, he explained, or there was going to be government intervention. The President wanted free, collective bargaining.

He apparently has lost.

Free collective bargaining apparently has flunked its test.

It had no answer for the key question of what happens when the mass bargaining power of United Steel Workers runs into the refusal of steel management to keep the decision-makers of unionism happy.

Does steel management have the right to say NO?

NEGOTIATORS looked for a way out, starting last May.

They still have found none, beginning this October.

The steel deadlock has begun to hurt. It's not a private right any more. It's a public problem.

The government, which is supposed to look out for all of us, seems to be ready to order the steel industry back to work, for the sake of the public welfare.

The order would be good for only 80 days.

It would run out early in January. Then, on the assumption that nothing would have been settled during the 80 days of government-ordered production, the strike would be resumed.

But enough steel would have been produced to tide over the country for another period of months. There would be a shortage of jobs, not steel.

The steel industry has enough capacity to fill peacetime orders in less than a 12-month year.

STEEL MANAGEMENT would rather have a shortened work year than a shortened work week, which is unionism's goal. It would rather close down than slow down.

The summer layoff of production did no serious damage. There is no widespread damage being done now, only specific damage where shortages of some kinds of steel have developed.

An 80-day resumption of steelmaking would take the pressure off the country. It might even settle the strike, though that is only a wishful thought.

The showdown would come next January—soon after Happy New Year.

Do Your Part For The Community Fund

The annual Community Fund drive is under way officially, with the goal $83,000.

The campaign chairman, David E. Beatty, in calling for the "fullest participation by the community, "summed up the objectives well in this manner: "For the sake of better community life, we need the services of the YMCA, the Salvation Army, the Girl Scouts, the Boy Scouts, the Recreation Council and the USO."

There are few who don't know of the valuable services the above agencies have rendered. It would be a community blackmark of the worst kind if they were to fall by the wayside through lack of public support.

Because of the steel strike, the atmosphere isn't conducive to a fund drive of any nature. But soul-searching should convince the great majority that there is a way to meet the need and to come through when the fund workers call.

Naturally, some are in a position to give more than others and the burden is on them even more than on those who will have to scrape for a dollar or two.

A successful Community Fund campaign ties in closely with our hopes for industrial growth. No industry—no matter how small—will turn to a community which doesn't possess those agencies necessary to a well-rounded way of life.

The YMCA, the Salvation Army, the Girl Scouts, the Boy Scouts, the Recreation Council and the USO are such agencies. They are part of us and supply services which we need. It is most desirable, too, that they be maintained at the greatest possible capacity and not be allowed to slip backward.

The $83,000 goal must be reached. It will be if everyone concerned—in East Liverpool, Wellsville, Chester and Newell—does his or her part during the drive.

Homecoming Time

Irondale will launch its 19th annual homecoming celebration tonight. From now until the joint community worship service next Sunday, there will be varied events to please everyone.

It's good to see a community let down its hair and join hands in a common celebration. A get-together such as that at Irondale helps to make the bonds of friendship tighter and intensifies the feeling of community pride so vital a part of progress.

East Liverpool and other district neighbors wish Irondale residents the best of everything during their observance.

A Timely Reminder On Fire

Human nature being what it is, people have to be reminded occasionally of the avoidable hazards of life. Fire is one of them.

Fire Prevention Week is being observed in the Tri-State area with fire departments checking business places, schools and public buildings for possible unnoticed dangers and urging householders to check their properties.

It comes at an appropriate time. Fall weather should be the signal for an examination of the heating unit after the summer idleness and with cold weather still a few weeks away there is time to correct any dangers.

Posters point out the necessity of watching out for fires but the problem boils down to the individual — that's where fire causes usually are traced.

A carelessly tossed cigarette, a quantity of oily or paint - smeared rags cast aside after the summer paint jobs around the house, that cranky flue that caused smoke or fumes last winter, ragged extension cords or overloaded household electric circuits, all add up to potential loss of life or at least property damage.

Firemen spend a lot of time trying to drive home the reason for the week's observance but only you can make it a reality. Now's the time!

The Once Over

The Brooklyn Fan Who Can't Forget showed up as a psychopathic case in the 1959 World Series. He wouldn't mention "Dodgers" by name, calling them "X" in mixed company and clinging to Judas Iscariots, turncoats, ungrateful gypsies, Rover Boys and ungrateful heels in milder references.

He followed the games only on the radio as he couldn't bear the sight of the team on TV, and he tuned out when the "Bums" were at bat. "I can't stand the sight of the foul fugitives from Brooklyn justice," he said.

"When I think of the years, man and boy, when I cheered, supported and gave blood for the punks, it drives me nuts. You know how George Washington felt when his old pal Benedict Arnold switched from West Point to London."

"But for years the Bums . . ." we began.

"Don't call 'em by such a decent name," he barked. "For generations it was a term of affection and loyalty from Coney Island to the Brooklyn Bridge. But to apply it to that team today ain't fair to tramps, vagabond lovers or unreliable traveling-circus men."

"Don't you carry resentment too far?" we asked.

"Not far enough," he snapped. "If I really let myself go I'd brush off the series even on the airwaves and spend the time in empty Ebbets Field drinking myself stiff, enjoying happy memories and putting the Flatbush, Greenpoint and Bensonhurst Curse on the entire outfit."

"Won't you admit there was gallantry in the climb from seventh place to a world series?" we asked.

"Them crumbs, refugees, ingrates, Pacific Coast explorers and Cook tourists are last in the hearts of Flatbush, last in the affections of eastern ball fans and first in the economic outlook of capitalists, turnstile checkers and big real estate operators," he sneered, a fierce look in his watery eyes.

"You mean even the names of Carl Furillo, Gil Hodges, Duke Snider and Junior Gilliam don't move you?" we asked.

"I NEVER HEARD OF 'EM," he yelled. "How about O'Malley?"

The Brooklyn Fan Who Can't Forget leaped through the window screaming.

A BIG AD CAMPAIGN has been launched for a League of Honest Coffee Lovers dedicated to a battle against weak coffee. "Coffee is being turned out so weak that it has lost all flavor, aroma and pickup," it says, closing with, "Arise, American coffee lovers, arise!"

We're joining. a good cup of coffee in countless lunchrooms and restaurants has become a rarity. The bean is watered down until the drink has the taste of boiled marbles.

The average lunchroom proprietor seems to have dedicated himself to making the coffee-lover sore if not rebellious.

'Tough Tony' Solves Automation

By Victor Riesel

BROOKLYN, U.S.A.

If anybody can beat automation, it's my new found "friend" and "news source," Tony Anastasio, "Tough Tony," now leader of the world's largest waterfront local, has beaten the machine, he says. For three years the machines have been working his great piers and for three years the 15,000 men on those giant docks have been working full time—despite automation.

Victor Riesel

"Tell you the truth, Victor," he says. "We need more men. Those machines, they're not so tough."

There's one thing about Tony's kind of union leader—ask them for details and they become shrewd knowledgeable economists in their field. What Tony did is national news at a moment when automation and the cutting of work forces are the issues behind the great industrial civil wars ripping the nation.

Three years ago, before the machine, men were loading bags of sugar much the same as the Vikings loaded their oar-driven vessels. The Brooklyn Longshoremen used work gangs of 29 men. Today, each group has been reduced to nine. The old gang handled 15 to 20 tons of sugar in bags each hour. Today the nine men work 60 to 70 tons an hour. They do this with an endless belt type of equipment which handles loose sugar.

Yet no dockwalloper has lost his job.

IN THE "OLD DAYS," before mechanization, the Brooklyn gangs were 21 strong. Today they are still 21 strong. But now they load from 300 to 400 tons an hour—four and five times what they used to put aboard ship.

No one has lost his job.

Tony Anastasio reports that today the Brooklyn docks handle as much as 3½ million tons of cargo a year in containers. This means that where a hundred loose chunks were shouldered on men's backs or taken out of sling loads individually, they now are prepacked in one container and heaved aboard in one mechanical operation.

I asked Tony how come his men are fully employed. He said his docks are efficient and no shippers are running away to other ports or even to other countries on the continent to have their goods unloaded and then flown or railroaded in. The increased business, made more profitable by increased mechanization, in the long run means more jobs for his men despite the slashing in the time of individual loading.

But those in other ports along the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts who hit the docks with their strike last week don't think so. They say that mechanization — the coming of the machine—will wipe out the jobs of one out of every three Longshoremen.

Their problem is more colorful, especially in New York Port where they handle 16 billion dollars worth of ocean commerce annually but their problem is that of virtually every other union.

WHAT TROUBLES the International Longshoremen's Assn. is the spectre of the automated ship of the future. It will be so constructed that huge containers will fit right into the hold and on the decks.

The containers will be lifted onto the vessel in one operation. This will be done by a crane with a long arm-like mechanism. The Longshoremen call it the one-armed bandit.

Then there is loose or pulverized cargo. This type is loaded by an endless band on wheels. It is rolled up to the side of the ship. The side doors are opened. The loose cargo is scooped up by the mechanism. It is dropped into the hold, untouched by human hands.

How then will these hands earn the money to buy their daily bread? The Longshoremen have an answer. They want the hiring lists closed. They say to the ship owners, take advantage of the by-products of automation—the savings from less damaged cargo, less pilferage out of metal containers, less cargo lost and fewer shipments detoured.

But don't lay off any men.

A Nickle's Worth

By Truman Twill

Exactly as I figured, Premier Khrushchev's visit kept everybody so busy no one noticed the absence of one stranger in the balcony.

But as it turned out, Truman Twill must have been the only practicing newspaperman in the whole country who didn't get in a nickel's worth about the Russian visitor.

Never before have so many written so much about so little.

This is not said in disparagement of Nikita Khrushchev, who clearly is one of the complex public figures of the era. It is said in disparagement of all the gritty slaves of opinionation who must take it on themselves to sit in judgment in a situation like this.

The slaves have no choice, actually.

That would have been my situation, had I been on the job while the Russian Premier was here. I would have had no inclination to opinionate about him as a statesman.

But like thousands of others, I would have been impelled to pass judgment, figuring that was what I was expected to do.

Fortunately, there now has been time for second, third and fourth thought on the matter. I have an opinion about Khrushchev as an individual.

Premier Khrushchev, it appears to me, proved he is the No. 1 public psychologist of his era.

It is what all politicians aim to be. They hope to understand the public well enough to exploit its moods and predispositions. Mr. K did that to Americans.

He had grasped the essential fact of American psychology, which is an inordinately strong desire to prove to the Old World that the New World is doing very nicely, thank you.

Nothing makes Americans happier than to show off to visitors from abroad — especially to visitors who symbolize the Old World's old ideas.

Khrushchev is a symbol of political authoritarianism, the time-worn theory that all ordinary men should bow down to the edicts of a few extraordinary men who get that way by going through the chairs of authoritarian responsibility.

He is no more a socialist than your Aunt Minnie.

There is more real socialism in the platforms and practices of the major political platforms in this country than there is in the whole Soviet shebang.

If Americans want to make future book on probabilities, they can bet there will be more old-time dog-eat-dog capitalism in the Soviet Union in the next generation than will be found in the United States.

Socialism vs. capitalism is not what the cold war is about.

Peace vs. war is not what all the high-level visiting is about.

The issue is whether ordinary men shall be permitted to hold their heads high and look all other men in the eye fearlessly, or whether they must lower their gaze and murmur assent to the authoritarians.

It is whether they shall be governed with or without their consent.

Premier Khrushchev has a shrewd grasp of public psychology. He came here to gratify our habit of trying to make a hit with every Old World visitor. By doing us the favor of letting us show him what fine fellows we are in the New World, he hoped to make us feel more favorably inclined toward his Old World doctrine that ordinary men should defer to the judgment of extraordinary men like him who know what is good for all us punks and lumpies.

He did a bang-up job. But some of us punks and lumpies intend to keep right on insisting that no man is extraordinary enough to lord it over his fellow creatures. We do not intend to be fooled by misleading labels.

Fantastic Aftermath

By David Lawrence

Khrushchev's Visit Brings Strange Results

Some of the things that have happened as an aftermath to the Khrushchev visit seem fantastic.

Thus, the other day many officials waited anxiously for Nikita Khrushchev to make a certain announcement after his return to Moscow. He had agreed informally with President Eisenhower to say to the press that there would be no "time limit" on the negotiations about West Berlin. For some unexplained reason, Mr. Khrushchev wasn't willing to put this into the formal communique but he did agree to an arrangement whereby President Eisenhower would tell it first to his own press conference the next day and then the Soviet Premier would announce the same thing to a press conference in Moscow.

David Lawrence

For several hours there was discussion inside the State Department and elsewhere in the government as to whether Mr. Khrushchev would keep his word.

Actually, what Mr. Khrushchev said publicly to a Moscow press conference isn't of very great significance. For all he announced was that there would be "no time limit on the negotiations," but that they must "not be prolonged indefinitely."

The first part of this statement really is contradicted by the second. For, where a time limit is not fixed, it means that either party can terminate the agreement at any time.

So far as Mr. Khrushchev is concerned, he already had told the press in Washington that he didn't see any other way out but for the Soviet government to sign a peace treaty with "the two German states."

THIS MEANS, of course, no reunification of Germany. It could also mean that, since West Berlin would be regarded by the Soviets as a part of the East German Republic, the initiative would be placed squarely upon the Western Allies to decide whether they would enforce their rights in Berlin.

In substance, the situation hasn't moved off dead center at all. There has been just a play on words and the world is so eager for some kind of reassurance and easing of tension that it grasps at almost any straw.

As a matter of fact, many high officials of our own government who have by no means been fooled by the Soviet Premier have had discussions among themselves as to just what was the real purpose of the Soviet Premier's visit to America and what he really meant by his proposals for disarmament and the like.

To many of them, there seems no question about the fact that for reasons of self-interest — not altruism or consideration for the West — the Soviet government has decided that it needs a period of rest and possibly relief from the heavy burden of armament.

Being a dedicated Communist, Mr. Khrushchev is convinced that Communism is eventually going to be victorious throughout the world.

He doesn't feel that it is necessary to conquer by force of arms, because infiltration is a much easier process. If he can lull the Western nations into a disarmament program and if his own subversives keep on infiltrating the weaker governments of the world as well as some of the stronger ones and if billions of dollars' worth of rubles are spent each year for propaganda, the Soviet Premier thinks victory is attainable in that way even more readily than through arms.

THERE ISN'T much doubt here about the extent to which the Soviet government would agree to disarm. It can't afford to agree to complete disarmament. It needs armies for its own undisclosed purposes. It has a military clique that is not going to take any chances on what the Eastern European satellite countries might do.

This military apparatus is necessary not only for internal peace but to keep a dominant position for the Soviets on the continent of Europe.

But timing is an important factor and is one of the reasons why there is so much confusion in appraising what the Soviet policy really is going to be. Time means nothing to the Soviet leaders.

They would just as soon carry on a program that takes 10 or 15 or 20 years to accomplish as one that has to come to a climax in the next year or two.

The reason is that the Communists are convinced that the Western countries will weary of the negotiations and will make concession after concession in the interest of "easing tensions."

THERE ARE MANY Americans, of course, who are urging that the United States "must not let down its guard" but already because of the mere discussion of disarmament there is widespread interest in how much money can be saved by reducing military appropriations. The Soviets are well aware of what all this means and have already begun to attack those influences in the United States which are supposed to be eager to perpetuate a "cold war."

Nobody in his right senses wants to perpetuate any kind of war—cold or hot. But as long as there is an aggressive war machine in operation and as long as infiltration—which is a form of aggression—is carried on throughout the world by the Communists, it would be folly for any of the Western countries to believe that the "cold war" is ending or likely to end.

Despite their denunciations of the cold war, the Soviets have not yet done anything to eliminate it. The Moscow line is that the Soviet Union isn't interfering in the internal affairs of other countries—but it is doing so every day in the Middle East, in Latin America and in Southeast Asia, as well as in Eastern Europe.

Key To Summit Meeting?

By William L. Ryan

Can Moscow demonstrate that anything, basically, has changed in its approach to the issue of West Berlin's future? This may be the key question standing in the way of a summit meeting.

A short time ago the world was told Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev had removed the main obstacles to a summit conference. Only Tuesday Khrushchev seemed to contribute to renewed doubts.

The summit question now is a political issue in Britain, a source of annoyance in France and probably a bit of a Washington headache.

Conservative Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, in the midst of a British election campaign, has insisted a summit meeting is assured and has indicated credit for this should accrue to him and his leadership.

Apparently Washington felt obliged to tug a bit of the rug from under Macmillan by announcing there had been no agreement to convene the meeting. Britain's Laborites jumped on this happily, accusing Macmillan of making election stunts of world issues. And in Paris, France tartly reminded everybody that she, at any rate, had not even been consulted.

But Khrushchev, who has given every indication he devoutly wants a summit meeting, likely will have some problems himself in this respect.

Although President Eisenhower found that the main obstacles had been removed, he still might be waiting for the results of further tests. Does Khrushchev, for example, really want firm agreement on key issues? Or does he want the conference primarily to capture the world's attention while the Communist movement marks time and awaits opportunities?

Khrushchev's congratulations Tuesday to the East German Communist regime, marking its 10th anniversary today, might arouse considerable skepticism over how much things have changed. In his name, the Kremlin hailed the German Communist regime for an "indefatigable struggle for liquidation of the obsolete occupation regime in West Berlin" and for promoting "solution of the national task of unification of Germany on a peaceful and democratic basis."

This seems to indicate continued Communist pressure on West Berlin, which is a brilliant testimony to Western standards, deep in the heart of a Communist-run state, and a constant thorn in the Communist side.

As for Germany's reunification, that has the distinct look of red herring. Khrushchev himself has shown clearly he sees little prospect for reunification on any basis at all.

Khrushchev provoked a crisis last November by setting a time limit for ending the four-power occupation of Berlin. Recently, during his American visit, he assured President Eisenhower there would be no time limit on West Berlin negotiations. This seemed to remove the impression of ultimatum.

But — was the ultimatum really ever there? Was Khrushchev really prepared to test the West's mettle by holding to a deadline? In short, was he prepared to risk war over Berlin? It seems unlikely.

If that is the case, then it is difficult to see just how the Soviet attitude has changed at all. President Eisenhower may well be waiting, before agreeing to a summit meeting, to hear if.

Lisbon Board Airs Possible Building Need

LISBON — Complete revision of school schedules — including half-day sessions or all-year attendance —was discussed as the alternative to new construction at a meeting of the Lisbon Board of Education Tuesday night at the high school.

Supt. Loren Early has prepared a 20-page booklet on statistics of enrollment and other factors concerning the schools and the need for enlarged facilities.

The board directed Early to make a survey on the cost of new buildings and the cost of hiring new teachers if half-day sessions are introduced.

Board members also discussed types of building materials that would provide savings on insurance premiums over a period of years.

Six new rooms are being constructed at the Lincoln School but date of completion has not been set.

In other action, the board authorized Gerald Chappell, school speech therapist, to attend a national convention of the American Speech and Hearing Association at Cleveland Nov. 11-14.

Supt. Early reported the schools will receive extra funds for the high school science laboratory from the National Defense Act. Some $3,370 is expected under the grant for the laboratory, which is being modernized in an $8,000 project.

Discussion was held on furnishing instructional materials for students. Certain fees are now being charged for some materials under a state regulation which requires the board to supply only textbooks.

The board will meet again Nov. 17.

Nothing Missing After 2 Burglaries At Lisbon

LISBON — Two burglaries and one attempted breaking and entering occurred sometime Tuesday evening or early today, but nothing was taken, according to Chief Dalton Pike.

The Lisbon Feed Service, also on Maple St., 400 feet west of the coal company, was entered by removal of siding on the rear but nothing was believed taken.

The attempted burglary occurred at the Erie railroad office between the coal and feed mill firms. Crowbar marks were left on the window frames.

Rain Delays Blacktop Job On Chester Street

Blacktopping of Fairview St., Chester—scheduled Tuesday—has been postponed until dry weather permits the roadway to be in the proper condition, Councilman Charles Kology said today.

Kology, chairman of the street committee, said city crews will work today on a sewer in the northeast section of which caused water to back up in some homes last night.

'Thank God It's Over'

Woman Who Aided Futile Bank Holdup Is Arrested

CLEVELAND (AP) — "Thank God it's over. I'm so tired of waiting."

That summed up the feeling of Alma Helen Stevens, 26, object of a nationwide search as the woman accomplice of a man who killed himself in a bizarre but futile bank holdup here two weeks ago.

She was arrested by two patrolmen Tuesday night in an East Side rooming house on a tip that a man and a woman were having a loud argument and disturbing other occupants.

Mrs. Stevens told detectives she was forced to remain in Cleveland since the day of the robbery attempt because she was broke. The first two days she slept under a bridge, not more than a mile from where the getaway car was abandoned near East 105th St. and Euclid Ave. Mrs. Stevens said she lived in the rooming house with a 39-year-old man since the third day of her flight.

"I saw my picture on TV once and I was afraid to go out of the house," she told detectives.

Mrs. Stevens had sped from a Cleveland Trust Co. branch on Lorain Ave. Sept. 23 in a getaway car. She had been waiting for William Ansley, 30, formerly of Indianapolis, who was trapped inside the bank by 200 law enforcement officers who poured tear gas into the building through windows. Ansley killed himself during the one-hour siege.

Ansley and Mrs. Stevens had driven to the bank after an early morning stop at the home of the bank Manager, Herbert Fox. There they tied up Fox's wife and two daughters. A phony bomb was left ticking in the house. The family was able to escape from their bonds and alert police.

Police chief Frank W. Story said Mrs. Stevens had admitted her part in the bank robbery attempt. A native of Abilene, Kan., Mrs. Stevens also had been known as Alma Malone and Billy Jean Carroll, police said. Her mother lives in Salina, Kan. Married four times, Mrs. Stevens has a son, 12, living with her mother, officers said.

Jaycee List Given Council

Wellsville To Repair Street Signs

Wellsville City Council Tuesday night took action to have city street markers repaired and replaced where needed.

A survey of the signs was made about a month ago by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the list of missing markers and those needing renovation was presented Council. Some 40 signs are involved.

Safety-Service Director William S. Robinson said it will cost a total of $800 for the project — $400 to purchase the needed signs and standards and some $400 to install them.

COUNCIL DELAYED action on legislation appropriating $1,500 to pay for repairs to the reservoir spillway and walkways as not enough members were present to adopt the ordinance under suspension of rules. Councilmen Dominick Dash and Richard Brown were absent.

Robinson said small cracks in the spillway have been repaired, the steel walkways painted and the shoreline has been cleared of debris.

Harry Justice of Riverside Ave. presented a request to rent or purchase a home recently purchased by the city on Danbury Ave. The city bought the frame home because the basement floods when water backs up into the pondage area at McQueen's Run.

The property committee and Solicitor William Bush were asked to check into the possibility of renting. Justice was told if the property is sold, bids will have to be asked.

CLAYTON NEWLEN, 2017 Riverside Ave., sent a letter of application for police constable in the city. All constables must be appointed by township trustees after Nov. 6 and must be paid by township or city funds as they also will be taken off the fee system.

Bush said he still hasn't seen a copy of the state legislation governing constables. Earl Frost and Clifford Athey are the elected constables in Wellsville.

Frost also has applied for the post. Councilmen Robert Runyon and Dash were reappointed to the Firemen Pension Board until Dec. 31.

Paul Ice, clerk, read a letter from the College of Wooster informing Council that Robert Carter of Wellsville has received a scholarship. Carter had petitioned Council for the McCullough Scholarship in Wellsville.

THE COLLEGE informed Council that the scholarship is now part of the general scholarship fund and no action is needed by Council in awarding it.

Councilman Ancel Moore, street and light chairman, requested filling of holes in 1st and 2nd Sts. He also asked that Nicholson Alley be graded. Robinson said work on all alleys will be started soon.

At one point in his report, Robinson explained to Moore that reflector lights had been ordered for use at 15th and Commerce Sts. Myron Weis, Council president, then remarked to Moore that if he had checked with Robinson before the meeting he would know about such things.

Moore asked sharply what objection Weis had to his reports and Weis replied that they are "wasting my time."

MOORE REITERATED a request for a street light on Lisbon St. between Diamond St. and 10th St. Robinson said the Ohio Power Co. will extend a service 300 feet from the nearest pole without cost but that this would not reach the center of the block on Lisbon. Moore was asked to check into the exact cost.

Moore also said he was against sealcoating streets in the future. "I feel the city would be better off not using seal coat, but rather put all efforts into having one dirt street blacktopped each year," he said.

He also complained of the "deplorable condition" of city side walks.

Weis complained of speeding in Pine Alley between Main St. and Riverside Ave.

take 4-4 wellsville to repair

Councilman J. Frederick Russell asked Robinson if slag from the new street improvements is washing into storm sewers. Robinson said the only heavy accumulation along the side was on Cemetery Hill and that it had been shoveled up.

—:—

RUSSELL REPORTED one-inch water line had been installed to property owned by the city near the sewage disposal plant.

Councilman Robert Taggart requested the street and light committee to investigate a request from residents of lower Chester Ave. between 18th and 19th Sts. that the street be widened to provide parking.

Mayor William J. Shoub's report for September showed a total of $2,148.85 collected in fines and fees. Mayor's costs were $99.40 and the traffic book was $193.

In response to a question from Weis, Robinson said a bulletin board had been ordered. It will be installed in the hallway outside Council chamber so official reports can be displayed.

The Rev. Joseph H. Varner Jr., pastor of the Bethel Presbyterian Church, gave the invocation and Moore offered benediction.

County farmers have until Friday to apply for contracts, Mrs. Norma Murray, office manager, said.

Meanwhile, a three - member tabulation committee is to begin counting votes tonight or Thursday on the results of the annual election for three members and two alternates to the ASC committee.

The committee named to count the ballots includes Linn Troop, Charles Rinehart and R. J. Tarr. C. C. Herron of Pughtown, committee chairman, since 1936, headed the list of candidates.

Trades Apprentices Seen Short In Ohio

CINCINNATI (AP)—Planning to buy your own home? It may cost more because young men aren't going into the trades that call for apprentices, says J. E. Kostyo, secretary of the Ohio Apprenticeship Council.

He said Tuesday night the supply of apprentices does not even fill the vacancies caused by retiring journeymen.

Kostyo, of Columbus, was here for the annual council conference which runs through Thursday. Margaret A. Mahoney, state director of industrial relations, addresses the group tonight.

Rural-Urban Day Set

Chamber To Tour Farms

In the third annual exchange of visits between city dwellers and farm folks Wednesday, Oct. 14, members of the Chamber of Commerce will tour four southwestern Columbiana County farms to observe modern soil reclamation and conservation procedures that have been put to practical use.

The Chamber group will travel through the rural area in two chartered buses, halting to inspect the farms and her explanations of the work from the operators and County Agent Floyd Lower and Herman Reuter, soil conservationist.

THE TOUR IS a joint project of the Chamber and the Rural-Urban Committee of the Columbiana County Agricultural Council, designed to encourage better understanding between rural and city dwellers as they learn first-hand how the other lives his daily life and earns his living.

The tour group will leave the Community Parking Lot at 1 p. m., heading out Route 30 for its first stop at Crockery City Farms. There it will observe a spoil bank reclamation project, a farm pond, pasture seeding and wildlife plantings.

Then the tour will move on to the John Coie farm, west of Crawford's Corners on the old Roller Coaster Rd. Coie will explain his farm operations, including a dairy program, a conservation plan, contour strips, diversion terraces and pasture seeding.

THE NEXT STOP will be at the Morgan Monument on Route 518 near West Point. The group will visit the monument in a new state roadside park that marks the spot where the Confederate raider and his men surrendered during the Civil War. County Commissioner R. Max Gard, an area historian, will speak briefly on the cavalry raid and the history of the monument. Coffee will be served by women of the West Point Grange.

The tour will proceed to the crossroads at Prosperity and turn south to the Division of Wildlife Farm adjoining the Bethel Presbyterian Church near Highlandtown. Howard Hothem will explain the farm's operations, including a pond for public fishing, planting of trees and multiflora roses and the creation of feeding strips.

Then the group will proceed to Highlandtown on Route 39, stopping along the way to observe the proposed site of the Highlandtown Lake.

THE LAST STOP will be made on the G. Walter Boyd farm southeast of Highlandtown on Route 39. Boyd will explain the dairy farm operation and the use of diversions and contour strips. His operation was used as a demonstration farm during the early days of the County Conservation District.

The program will end with a dinner at 6:30 p. m. (DST) at the Oak Ridge Presbyterian Church. The principal speaker will be Riley Dougan, farm economist at Ohio State University.

The first exchange of visits between rural and city dwellers was held in 1957, when businessmen toured district farms and were entertained at dinner. In 1958, the rural group visited East Liverpool business places and plants and toured the telephone exchange. A dinner meeting followed.

The Chamber reminded its members today that reservations will close Friday at 5 p. m. Those unable to make the tour may make arrangements to attend the dinner program, the Chamber explained.

A LARGE representation of rural residents is expected at the dinner. The Yellow Creek Ruritan Club is promoting the sale of tickets, as well as Lower and Mrs. Donald Wollam of Calcutta, who is secretary of the co-operating rural group.

Reuter is chairman of the rural tour committee. Others are: Mrs. Virgil Whinnery of Salem, vice chairman, Lower and W. J. Zimmerman of Salem R. D. 3.

The Chamber is represented by its agriculture committee, which is headed by Harold Allison. Other members are Fred Andreatta, Lawrence Black, James Boyd, Dr. J. A. Fraser, William R. Mackall, Robert McVay and J. Herbert Thompson.

Tickets may be obtained locally at the Chamber office or from any member of the committee.

Introducing the New-Size Ford...

the 1960 Ford Falcon

Meet the New-size Ford—the Falcon! Here's a car with plenty of room for six big adults and all their luggage. It's sized to handle and park like a "small" car . . . powered to pass and climb like a "big" car . . . and built like no other car for savings!

It gives you up to 30 miles per gallon on regular gas. Aluminized mufflers normally last twice as long as ordinary kinds. A Full-Flow oil filter lets you go 4,000 miles between oil changes. Even insurance can cost you less! And this Falcon is the world's most experienced new car. It was driven over every mile of numbered Federal Highway in EXPERIENCE RUN, U.S.A.—a grueling demonstration climaxing Ford's 3 years and 3 million miles of research and testing.

The Falcon has the features that American car buyers expect. Its gearshift is on the steering column—not on the floor. Its engine is located up front for greater stability and safety. Best news of all is the Falcon's low, low price. See it at your Ford Dealer's!

Addresses Chemical Union

Vanik Says It's Dangerous To Use T-H Act In Disputes

CLEVELAND (AP) — Rep. Charles A. Vanik (D-Ohio) says it is "dangerous procedure" to use the Taft - Hartley Act's national emergency injunctive provisions in labor-management disputes.

In a speech to the convention of the International Chemical Workers Union Tuesday, Vanik referred specifically to possible use of the provision by President Eisenhower to send strikers back to work for an 80-day cooling-off period in the national steel strike. He said:

"It invokes compulsion. And 'compulsed labor' as well as 'compulsed management' will not produce efficiently. The issue in this strike will not go away in 80 days."

Vanik said that in his opinion the steelworkers had made their case for higher wages. He accused the steel industry of using the current dispute as an opportunity to demoralize the steelworkers.

He said the steel industry looks upon President Eisenhower as a "dear" friend in the White House "who can pull the strike switch at any time by invoking the 80-day must-work directive of Taft-Hartley."

"Make no bones about it," Vanik continued. "The president will use Taft-Hartley at any moment George Humphrey and his boys tell him to."

Humphrey, a Cleveland industrialist, is board chairman of the National Steel Corp. He served as the president's secretary of the treasury until 1957 and they are close friends.

Another congressman, Rep. Joseph E. Karth (D-Minn) spoke before the convention of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union, also meeting here. Karth is on leave from that union's staff. He said Tuesday that AFL-CIO President George Meany and Andrew Biemiller, AFL-CIO legislative director, were "responsible for passage of the Landrum-Griffin bill" by the last Congress. Delegates applauded Karth's statements.

Members voted amendments to the union constitution to make possible quick disaffiliation from the AFL-CIO through executive board action. That power formerly was vested only in the union's convention.

Man Killed By Car

CLEVELAND (AP)—John Lengyel, 42, of East Cleveland, was killed here Tuesday night when a car struck him. The driver was not held. A companion of Lengyel's, Robert Clark, also hit by the car, was injured.

December's Store Hours Get Merchant's Approval

A schedule of extra store hours for December — which means that gift-buyers will have nine extra shopping nights between Thanksgiving and Christmas—was approved Tuesday by the East Liverpool Merchants Association.

The holiday season will be ushered in officially on Friday night, Nov. 27, when new Christmas lights will be switched on for the first time and Santa Claus will make his first visit. Stores will be open until 8:30, as they will be closed the preceding day for Thanksgiving.

In addition to the regular Thursday night shopping hours, the stores will be open until 8:30 p. m. on each of the last four Mondays prior to Christmas — Nov. 30 and Dec. 7, 14 and 21 — and on two Fridays, Dec. 11 and 18. They also will remain open until 8:30 Tuesday, Dec. 22, and Wednesday, Dec. 23.

On all other Wednesdays in December prior to Christmas, the stores will remain open until 5 p. m., skipping the usual noon closing. The stores will close at 5 p. m. Thursday, Dec. 24, in order that personnel may spend Christmas Eve with their families.

The schedule of hours was presented at yesterday's meeting in the Chamber of Commerce office by a committee comprised of James Locke, chairman, Thomas Phillips, Wendell H. Vodrey, Don Burbick and Richard Kerin.

In the absence of Harold Allison, chairman of the Christmas activities committee, Leslie Blumenthal, ELMA president, explained that new Yule decorations will be lighted for the first time on the evening following Thanksgiving and at the same time an official welcome will be staged for Santa Claus. The Santa welcome is scheduled tentatively for 6:30 p. m.

Other members of the Christmas activities committee are Ralph Finley, Jack Steinberg, Donald Baxter and George Shaw.

Don Eckert reported on arrangements for the Rural-Urban Day program Oct. 14, when Chamber members will tour East Liverpool district farms.

E. R. Chandler, executive secretary, reported on a recent meeting of the Ohio State Council of Retail Merchants at Granville, including new legislation affecting retailers.

4 Counties To Take Part

District Health Conference Scheduled In Salem Oct. 16

LISBON — A four-county district health conference will be held Friday, Oct. 16, at the Memorial Building in Salem, planned by a committee consisting of county representatives of the Ohio rural Health Council.

Columbiana, Mahoning, Portage and Stark Counties will participate. Mrs. Roy Archibald of Minerva R. D. 3 is the Columbiana County representative.

The program from 9:30 a. m. to 3 p. m. (DST) will consist largely of a symposium on the availability of health services. Mrs. Litta K. Roberson of the Ohio Farm Bureau at Columbus will head up the forenoon program, which will include explanations of official and voluntary agencies such as health departments, the Heart Association, the Mental Health Association, Tuberculosis and Health Leagues, welfare departments, the Polio Association and other groups.

The afternoon session will consist largely of a workshop concerning the various phases of voluntary agency work.

Speakers in the forenoon include Mrs. Mildred M. Rodgers, executive secretary of the Stark County Heart Council; Dr. P. L. Harris, Stark County health commissioner; Dr. Charles Waltner, superintendent of the Woodside Receiving Hospital at Youngstown; John Padrutt, executive director of the Portage County Tuberculosis and Health Association; Robert Bycroft, Columbiana County welfare director, and Miss Irene C. Westerh of the Stark County Rehabilitation Center.

Resource persons for the afternoon session include Dr. C. S. Palmer, county health director; Miss Elva Boyer, Mahoning County nurse; Walter Page Jr., executive director of the Ohio State Heart Association; Charles Edgar, Ohio State Medical Association; Dr. William Kolozsi, Columbiana County coroner and president of the County Medical Society; Dr. E. J. Davis of the Stark County Heart Council, and Miss Lillian Schroeder, executive secretary of the Columbiana County Public Health League.

Mrs. Charles Ream, committee chairman from Canton, will preside and the Rev. Tom Hammerton of Lisbon will give the invocation.

The meeting is open to the public and will include persons interested in various phases of health from the four counties.

Junior High Described Hotbed Of Trouble In School System

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A national educator says the "junior high school is a hotbed of trouble within the school system. . ."

Dr. William C. Kvaraceus delivered his remarks to the Ohio Congress of Parents and Teachers, Inc., here Tuesday.

He said the continued growth of juvenile delinquency is caused by the public's unwillingness to pay the price to combat it.

Kvaraceus, director of a juvenile delinquency study for the National Education Assn., said Americans have spent 110 billion dollars for automobiles and 151 billion for tobacco since 1948, but they spent only 78 billion for public education in that time.

"Our most valuable possessions, according to these figures, are not our children. They are material things that are quite dear to the delinquents themselves," the educator said.

Earlier at the meeting six Ohio high school teenagers gave their thoughts to the congress on such subjects as love, marriage and the family.

A Newark youth, John Ankele, 17, said teenagers resent discipline but will appreciate it later—"at least that's what I'm told."

Others addressing the group were Joy Simmons, 16, of Chillicothe; Randy Kidd, 17, of Lancaster, and Kay Fortner, 16, of Marion.

The congress Tuesday elected Mrs. Donald N. Crockett of Cleveland as its president.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

A Lonely Como And A Let-Down Allen

Perry Como, the 25-million-dollar kid, seemed awfully lonely out there in the new redecorated Music Hall on his opening show. Como made a big entrance down the aisle of the old Ziegfield Theater, sang a few bars, showed us around the premises, a pleasant device designed to link this show to Bing Crosby's celebrated Music Hall of radio days, and then introduced the Eberly Brothers, a couple of guys whose records sell in the billions.

John Crosby

Como himself was relaxed, assured, urbane as ever, and the kid can sure sing up a storm. Trouble was there seemed to be nobody to talk to.

-:-

IN THE OLD DAYS, when Goodman Ace was head writer over there, the Como show seemed a big happy family affair with some sort of running gag or plot line to hold it together. The guests all had a few words to say to Como or to each other before they did their juggling specialty or whatever they did.

Last Wednesday, though, the guests — Peggy King, who belted "Some People" from "Gypsy" to a fare-thee-well, and the Jack Cole dancers, who did a pretty good modern jazz ballet and scurried right back to their dressing room — no one seemed to know Como or care.

It was a monologue with everything resting on poor Mr. C's shoulders. When dialogue did crop up, such as passed between Como and Walter Brennan, it was fairly dreadful. Also, for some reason, conceivably to get the old folks' vote, a couple of oldsters who had written in requesting a number were stationed on stage while Como sang "Put Your Arms Around Me, Honey" to the lady. It was awful.

ANOTHER THING — I hate to sound so petulant but I'm afraid these are valid complaints—Como was required to spend an awful lot of time tasting his sponsor's products and saying things like: "Isn't that yummy?" and like that. Well, if the sponsor lays out 25 million clams for a guy, I suppose he has to help move the stuff off the shelves, but it makes an awful square out of one of the nation's favorite singers.

Como closed up by singing a bundle of his old juke box hits clear back to "Prisoner of Love." The singing was fine; the monologue and the gags were pretty tired and contrived. The show needs work but Como is a great performer. Things'll get better.

AND, WHILE we're on the subject of openings, let us take up Steve Allen's first show from Los Angeles since it became his permanent headquarters.

This one started with a tremendous opening — chorus girls dancing on the roof, cars racing around the parking lot over 14-foot credits, big smiles, big blasts on the trombone — and then settled down promptly to nothing much.

The trouble is that Allen's natural bent is for good-natured easy-going spoofs and NBC, which likes to fancy itself as the Ziegfeld of broadcasting, makes Allen think big, big, BIG, and the temperaments don't always mingle well.

I'm happy to see there were topical spoofs on Khrushchev's visit and on Miss America and the summer reruns — but they weren't very good ones, I'm afraid.

Tab Hunter sang some songs with what passes for a voice in younger circles but not in mine. One number he sang flat on his back while a couple of dancers gamboled on the greensward about a mile away against a backdrop of mountains. (I tell you they think big, big, BIG, out in California) and all this proved is that Tab Hunter can't sing in that position either.

ALLEN HAS MOVED to Monday at 10 p.m. to get away from Maverick and Ed Sullivan.

I'm happy we will have a variety show at that hour on that night. I devoutly hope the writers will continue to read the newspapers and continue to make jokes about Khrushchev instead of making them about the smog or about Rock Hudson.

I hope so, but I have my doubts. The writers out there get too busy building the barbecue in the backyard and soaking up all the gossip about the movie stars to spend much time with the papers. The values change and the jokes change with them.

One joke in the first show jarred a chuckle out of me. In a skit about all those repeats in the summer, Don Knotts declared:

"We take the best of last season's shows and run them again. And again and again until we find out why they were run in the first place."

Pretty rough on his own medium.

Family Of 12 Uninjured As Tree Tumbles

CHARDON, Ohio (AP) — High winds swept across western Geauga County Tuesday night, knocking down a tree which smashed into a large farm house near Auburn Corners. A family of 12 who lived at the house escaped injury.

The Cleveland weather bureau had issued a warning of damaging winds and the possibility of a tornado in Geauga and Ashtabula counties, but lifted the warning within an hour when the thunderstorm spent itself at 8:50 p.m.

The weather bureau could not substantiate reports from persons who said they saw a small funnel cloud as the wind whipped through Geauga County.

Winds, reaching 65 miles an hour, however, did knock down utility poles, high-tension wires and trees.

The tree that fell on the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. James Gruss and their 10 children did most of the damage in the storm. Damage to the house and other farm buildings was estimated at $25,000. The parents said they took the children to the basement when they heard the whistle of the high winds.

Democratic Meeting Hears Gov. DiSalle

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle told a Democratic meeting here Tuesday night he does not think "the people of Ohio want a budget that would be held down at the expense of the schools, hospitals and the aged."

He said he would continue his interest in improving institutions for the mentally ill.

Earlier, DiSalle visited the Summit County Receiving Hospital in Cuyahoga Falls. He said that institution's patient treatment record was "tremendous," but he criticized cleanliness in the kitchen.

To Carry Uncommitted Voters

Britain's Political Parties Make Election-Eve Bids

By DENNIS NEELD

LONDON (AP)—Britain's political parties made lightning election-eve canvasses today in a final desperate effort to carry the country's huge bloc of uncommitted voters.

The latest public opinion poll showed 8½ per cent of the voters in 50 key districts in the "don't know" or "won't tell" column.

Even the chiefs of the two major parties were cagey about predicting the results of Thursday's election of a new House of Commons.

The weather — a telling factor in British elections — seemed uncertain, with rain forecast in the West, and sun for the east. Rain tends to keep the voters away. Past elections have shown Laborites to be more easily deterred than Conservatives.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's Conservative party, seeking a third term in control of the government, could draw a grain of encouragement from the latest Daily Telegraph poll, which gave them a 2½ per cent lead over their Labor party rivals in 50 key constituencies.

Other recent polls have shown the two main parties — Labor and Conservative — racing neck-and-neck with up to one-fifth among the "don't knows." Britain has 35,400,000 eligible voters.

The Conservative party chairman, Lord Hailsham, told newsmen "our pledged support is marginally higher than in 1955" but he refused to make a firm prediction of the outcome.

Labor party Secretary Morgan Phillips was almost as cautious as Hailsham: "We will get a working majority if there is a high poll (good turnout) and full response from party workers and supporters."

Series Shifts Back To Chicago After Sox Win 1-0 Decision

The Review Sports

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1959 EAST LIVERPOOL REVIEW PAGE 18

Wynn Will Pitch Thursdays Game

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—It took three games, but the American League pennant winners — the Chicago White Sox everyone knows — finally showed up for the World Series at the Coliseum.

And now that they're free of the snake pit that passed for a ballyard in Los Angeles, they're sure they can sweep the final two games in their own park and win the series.

After winning the opener 11-0, then losing the next three when they out-hit themselves but could not get the runs, the White Sox finally returned to form Tuesday, barring the Dodgers' bid for a clinching victory in the fifth game with a 1-0 decision.

To stay alive, they went back to doing what comes naturally, winning with just five hits, all singles, clutch defense and the first three-pitcher shutout in series history.

Back home behind Early Wynn, who'll be making his third start, the Sox are favored at 11-10 in Thursday's sixth game, after a day off for travel.

But the Dodgers, who'll send southpaw Johnny Podres after his second victory are 5-2 choices for the world championship. They need win but one of the remaining two games.

Dodger manager Walt Alston said aforehand that his Dodgers have an advantage over any team playing in the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum for the first time.

The Coliseum, filled with gold and bright sun, sent this 56th World Series rolling toward money highs with record crowds for each of the three games played in Los Angeles.

But it was an open-air dungeon full of horrors for defense, with the glare and white-shirt background leaving fielders blind.

"Our defense ought to be better in our own park," said White Sox Manager Al Lopez. "Defense has been the best part of our club all year, but over there (Los Angeles; it was hurting us."

It was a tremendous relief job by Dick Donovan, the third game loser, that put it away for the White Sox. But it was Jim Rivera's running stab in right-center that saved the Sox something to put away.

A walk and a two-out single, Junior Gilliam's record-tying fourth hit of the game, had Sox starter Bob Shaw on the spot in the seventh with Charlie Neal coming to bat. It was Neal who had walloped a pair of home runs to beat Shaw in the second game.

MORE

After a wild pitch put the runners on third and second, the right-hand-hitting Neal sent a drive deep to right-center — past center fielder Jim Landis, but not past the rambling Rivera, running toward the fence.

The White Sox got their run in the fourth, when Nellie Fox led off with a single and went to third on Landis' single to right-center off loser Sandy Koufax. Fox came home when Sherm Lollar rolled into a double play.

Shaw, the winner, gave up all of the nine hits by the Dodgers, who left five men on base in the seventh and eighth. Donovan left the bases loaded in the eighth, getting clutch guy Carl Furillo, on a pop up to third, and retiring Don Zimmer on a fly to right.

Donovan faced only five men in his 1 2-3 innings, and Zimmer was the only one to get the ball out of the infield.

A record attendance of 92,706 was on hand in Los Angeles. No more mobs like that here though. You couldn't fit that many in Comiskey Park with a shoe horn. In addition, the advance weather prediction is cool and cloudy for Thursday.

Little World Series Captured By Havana

HAVANA (AP) — The Havana Sugar Kings won baseball's Little World Series Tuesday night climaxing a great comeback from the International League cellar.

Danny Morejon's two-out single in the ninth inning gave the Cubans a 3-2 victory over Minneapolis in the seventh and deciding game of the best-of-7 series. The American Assn. team had led 2-0 on solo homers by Lou Clinton and Joe Macko until Havana rallied to tie in the eighth on a two-run single by pinchhitter Lary Novak.

Havana's comeback began last April when the team was in last place.

Stitch, Dupas Meet Tonight

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Rudell Stitch, who spent Tuesday fishing on the Ohio River, meets Ralph Dupas tonight in a scheduled 10-round welterweght bout.

The match could be important to both Dupas, ranked No. 3 contender by the National Boxing Assn., and Stitch, ranked eighth, since Louisville promoter Bill King says he has offered $75,000 to welterweight champion Don Jordan to fight the winner here.

The bout will be televised nationally (ABC) at 10 p.m. (EDT).

Dupas, a fine defensive boxer with speed and an effective attack, has 95 professional fights behind him with 77 victories.

Stitch, a scrappy, fast fighter with 21 victories in 27 bouts, will have to use all his talents to overcome Dupas' experience.

Hall Explains Ticket Setup To Nonpareil

Merrill Hall, East Liverpool High School athletic director, speaking to the Nonpareil Club Tuesday night at the Y, explained the ticket arrangement for the football game Oct. 16 which has been shifted to Warren.

East Liverpool took 1,733 tickets, which are scheduled to go on sale here Monday. All season ticket holders will be given the approximate seat at Warren which they have at Patterson Field.

Season ticket holders who cannot attend the game may have their money refunded.

Hall told the club that out of the first $10,000 collected on the game East Liverpool High School will receive $8,000 and anything over $10,000 Warren and East Liverpool will split 50-50.

The high school athletic board has also agreed to share the expenses wth the Nonpareil Club of feeding the Potters at all out of town games, Hall said.

Hall also thanked the club members who have donated their time painting the fence at Patterson Field.

The Nonpareil Club will send 33 members of the Potter football team to the Purdue - Ohio State game on Oct. 17.

Red Montgomery presided at last night's meeting. The club will meet next Tuesday at 8 p. m. at the YMCA.

Donovan Shines In 2-Inning Stint

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dick Donovan, the "smiling Irishman" was full of jokes and laughter as he bantered with reporters in the Chicago White Sox clubhouse after the fifth game of the World Series.

Why not? Rarely had a pitcher been called into a more tense, more precarious situation than was Donovan Tuesday. He came in to protect a 1-0 lead against the Los Angeles Dodgers with the bases full and only one out in the eighth inning.

Nobody ever turned in a more courageous performance in such a dramatic situation than did this 31-year-old right-hander, who had relieved only once in the last three years.

All the Quincy, Mass., native did with the series riding on every pitch, was to retire the ever-dangerous Carl Furillo on a puny pop fly to third baseman Bubba Phillips and dispose of Don Zimmer on a routine fly to left fielder Al Smith.

In the ninth, with the score still 1-0, he needed only seven pitches to turn back the last three Dodgers to the dismay of a record breaking crowd of 92,706 loyal Los Angelenos.

Donovan had every reason to be happy, carefree and at peace with his fellow man.

But it hasn't always been so. Donovan, in his ninth year in the big leagues, has had more disappointments and frustration.

He recalled the time when the Braves, in their first year in Milwaukee, suspended him for refusing to report to Toledo of the American Assn. Once he disgustedly decided to chuck it all and enter the insurance business, after flopping with Detroit.

He remembered the turning point of his career.

"It was in 1955, my first year with the White Sox," Donovan recalled with a smile. "It was early in the season. The Sox had brought me conditionally from the Atlanta club. I was determined this time to make good. I knew it was my last chance."

Manager Marty Marion started him against Kansas City. In the third or fourth inning he was shelled for four runs. Marion summoned a relief pitcher. Donovan refused to come out. He stood on the mound and argued with his manager but in the end, he had to relinquish the ball.

"When I answered a knock on the door of my room that night and Frank Lane (White Sox general manager) walked in, I was sure he had the pink slip in his pocket. He didn't, though. Instead of sending me down, he assured me I was going to stay with the club all year."

Three Rookies From Ohio In Giants Lineup

CLEVELAND (AP)—The New York Giants, here Sunday in the Cleveland Browns' first home game, are pretty much the same club that whipped the Browns three times last year. But there are a few newcomers, including three rookies from Ohio.

How much action the three will see Sunday depends on whether Alex Webster, power runner for the 1958 Eastern Division champions, and Jimmy Patton, one of the National Football League's swiftest defensive backs, have recovered from injuries that kept them out of last week's loss to the Philadelphia Eagles.

The Ohio rookies with the Giants are:

Joe Morrison, 21, of Lima, who played at the University of Cincinnati and was Webster's replacement last week.

George Scott, also 21 and ahiling from Bainbridge, who starred at Miami University. He,, too, helped fill in for Webster.

Don Sutherin, 23, an Ohio State product from Toronto, Ohio, who worked as defensive back last week in Patton's spot and is a reserve place kicker.

The Giants have only two rookies who are non-Ohioans — Joe Biscaha, a spare offensive end from Richmond, and Ellison Kelly, substitute offensive guard from Michigan State.

CARROLL MOTOR SALES, INC.
740 Dresden Avenue East Liverpool, Ohio

By R. L. LIDE

Not many of the sportsmen are living today who were primarily responsible for quail being placed on the song bird list back in 1913. The ones who are still alive are no doubt octogenarians.

One of our finest game birds, the quail, will become legal quarry on state owned lands in Columbiana County beginning Nov. 16 through Dec. 9, inclusive.

No group of landowners in this county has formed an association that would permit the state to enter into an agreement where quail shooting will become legal on privately owned lands, therefore quail shooting in this county will be limited to the state-owned areas.

IT COULD BE that some so-called sportsmen have an idea they can shoot quail where they find them and if a game protector happens along and finds quail on their person all they have to say is "I shot them at Zeppernicks, Highlandtown or some other state owned lands."

Better read your laws. They are on file at the Clerk of Courts' office at the Court House in Lisbon. The law clearly reads: "No person shall possess quail in the field, except on such lands as are open to quail hunting as set forth in Section (F3) sub-section (4) (b) of this order" which has references to the Wildlife Council Order No. 172-59.

BACK IN 1913, it was primarily the sportsmen themselves who brought about the pressure to remove quail from the game bird list.

In recent years it has been the sportsmen who have taken the lead requesting that quail be placed back on the game bird list and classified as game birds along with rabbits, pheasants, deer and other game birds and animals.

Now the requests have been partially granted on state-owned and state-controlled areas. The wildlife technicians have their work cut out for them for several years ahead. It is up to them to prove we can "have our cake and eat it at the same time."

THIS IS A tremendous challenge to the Ohio Division of Wildlife as I see it. The proponents and the opponents of quail hunting have nothing to worry about now as I see it.

Quail hunting is illegal on any private lands not owned or controlled by the State of Ohio. Quail cannot be hunted on private lands with or without the landowners consent.

If a game protector catches you with quail on your person off any state-owned or controlled areas you can "beef" your head off, but the game protector will continue writing you a citation to the nearest County Court, which is his duty.

Unbeaten Palestine, Lisbon Meet Friday

Something has to give this week on the district football scene when two of Columbiana County's undefeated teams meet headon Friday night.

The battle of the undefeated finds Lisbon at East Palestine. Both schools have 3-0 records for the season and at the same time are tied for the lead in the Tri-County League with two victories apiece.

Two of the district's top point producers will be going against each other in this contest also. George Morris, No. 1 in the scoring race, will be East Palestine's big threat while the Bulldogs will have to stop Lisbon's Tom Brooks.

Neither team has faced a common opponent, but East Palestine had trouble getting by Leetonia, 22-15 last week. In two other games, the Bulldogs romped over Sebring, 54-12, and won their opener against Beaver, 20-8.

Meanwhile, Coach Bud Bucher's Lisbon squad owns a 52-8 win over Goshen Union, 14-6 victory over Minerva and last Saturday defeated Poland, 30-14.

This game highlights a schedule of 10 set Friday night for local schoolboy teams.

Newell again gets the jump on other district teams when the Vikings play host to Northwestern Thursday night at the Wells High Memorial Stadium. Kickoff time for the game is 8 p. m.

Getting back to Friday's schedule, East Liverpool will entertain Bellaire St. John's.

Wellsville will be seeking its second straight victory of the season after knocking off Chester when the Tigers face Wheeling Central at Nicholson Stadium.

Chester is home Friday night and will face some stiff competition from a strong Warwood eleven.

Midland, which was knocked from the WPIAL Class "A" race after losing its big game to Braddock, plays Monaca at the Lincoln High School Stadium.

Salem, ranked 10th in the state with a 3-0 record and unscored on this season, goes into Western Pennsylvania to meet Ambridge.

Canfield is at Columbiana, Minerva goes to Leetonia and New Cumberland travels to Follansbee to meet St. Anthony.

The annual contest between Beaver Local and United is scheduled Saturday afternoon at United. Another big contest Saturday shows Irondale in its annual homecoming game with Salineville.

Another tilt finds Fairfield-Waterford at Springfield.

White Sox Back In Series After Socks, Script Change

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox are back in the World Series after they changed their socks and their script.

The Chi-Sox showed up for the fifth series game against the Dodgers in Los Angeles Tuesday wearing their regular stockings which have a predominant black background. They ditched their new "series" hosiery, an elegant combination featuring white.

This was the joint idea of owner Bill Veeck and trainer Ed Froelich. Froelich brought along the old socks, just in case. Veeck sent along the word to have the old socks flown from Chicago, if necessary, for Tuesday's "must" Sox game. But they were on hand and donned without argument by the backs - against - the - wall Chicagoans.

As for the script change, the Sox — who didn't do anything right for most of 33 World Series innings — finally did everything right by reverting to their patented cliff-hanging script in two hectic innings against the enterprising Dodgers.

After wasting hits like they were free and stumbling both afield and running the bases, the White Sox pushed all the correct buttons in their thrilling 1-0 conquest of the Dodgers.

Manager Al Lopez sent in Jungle Jim Rivera for a sensational spearing of a potential two - run clout in the seventh and called upon doughty Dick Donovan for a magnificent relief job in the eighth.

Injury Bug Plagues Ohio State Grid Squad

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The injury bug is after Ohio State's football team again.

In Tuesday's practice center Gene Watkins pulled a groin muscle and joined five other Buckeyes on the casualty list. Others sidelined are quarterbacks Jerry Fields and Jack Wallace, guard Jim Lindner, halfback Bill German and tackle Dick Michael.

Detroit Middleweight Remains Undefeated

SARNIA, Ont. (AP)—Sonny Hill, Detroit middleweight, remained undefeated in pro boxing Tuesday night via a split decision over Roscoe Shamblin of Youngstown, Ohio, in an eight-rounder. Hill weighed 162 and Shamblin 167.

Stark's Leading Football Scorer Had Hips Crushed

LOUISVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Stark County's leading high school football scorer, with 10 touchdowns in three games, is halfback Gene Connor, 17, a 165-pounder whose hips were crushed in a train-auto accident a year ago today.

Jim Morgan, coach of the Louisville High Leopards, recalled:

"Doctors said there was doubt Gene would ever walk again, let alone run. Gene has lots of determination, and even last season during the final two games, he was on the sidelines on crutches trying to throw the ball around."

Connor scored four touchdowns against Leetonia, one on an 85-yard run, and tallied six TDs against Sebring. Two of his six-pointers came on pass catches and the rest on runs. Louisville lost its opener to Glenwood 18-0.

The accident in which Connor was hurt a year ago occurred while he and three other boys were riding home from football practice. One of the four, Tom Skolosh, was killed.

Wisconsin Picked Over Purdue; Iowa, Wildcats Favored

LSU Expected To Win Third Against Miami

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—There is no World Series in college football—just a serious world for alumni, players and coaches. But never for forecasters. They live in a world that is go-go-gone.

Last week's efforts resulted in an average of .741. This week's offerings:

Louisiana State over Miami: Although the Bayou Tigers have held three opponents to a total of 3 points, the team hasn't yet displayed the smoothness expected of it. The home fans and the Chinese Bandits should pull LSU to victory over the revived Miamians.

Northwestern over Minnesota: The Wildcats are due for a letdown after successive victories over Oklahoma and Iowa but halfback Ron Burton gives them the edge.

Tennessee over Georgia Tech: Two unbeaten Southern giants. Billy Majors and Bunny Orr to prevail over Maxie Baughan, ace of Tech's grudging line.

Oklahoma over Texas: The Sooners get revenge for the 15-14 setback of last year.

Mississippi over Vanderbilt: The Rebels haven't been scored on this year and Vandy still is hunting its first triumph.

Wisconsin over Purdue: Dale Hackbart to keep the Badgers on the Rose Bowl track.

Iowa over Michigan State: It is the Hawkeyes' homecoming.

South Carolina over North Carolina: The men of Warren Geise have been welded into a strong unbeaten defensive club.

Syracuse over Navy: They meet in the season's first bowl game, the Oyster Bowl at Norfolk, Va. Syracuse has everything, including a strong bench.

Auburn over Kentucky: Too much defense.

Southern Methodist over Missouri: It's about time for Don Meredith to bust loose with some more scoring passes.

Elsewhere: Penn State over Army, Florida over Rice, Air Force over Idaho, Arkansas over Baylor, Notre Dame over California.

Friday

West Virginia over Boston University; The Citadel over Wofford, Wichita over George Washington, Oregon over San Jose State, Tulane over Detroit, Utah over Brigham Young.

Saturday

East: Boston College over Villanova, Dartmouth over Brown, Franklin & Marshall over Washington & Lee; Harvard over Cornell, Holy Cross over Dayton, Pittsburgh over Duke, Pennsylvania over Princeton, Rutgers over Colgate, Yale over Columbia.

South: Alabama over Chattanooga, Clemson over North Carolina State, Georgia over Hardin-Simmons, Maryland over Wake Forest, Mississippi State over Arkansas State, Richmond over Davison, Virginia Tech over Florida State, Virginia Military over Virginia, William & Mary over Furman.

Midwest: North Texas over Cincinnati, Indiana over Marquette, Colorado over Kansas State, Michigan over Oregon State, Nebraska over Kansas, Ohio State over Illinois, Oklahoma State over Tulsa, Iowa State over South Dakota.

Southwest: Texas A & M over Houston, Texas Christian over Texas Tech, Texas Western over West Texas State.

Far West: Denver over Montana, Washington State over College of Pacific, Utah State over New Mexico, Washington over Stanford, Wyoming over Colorado State.

2 Men Are Killed As Oil Well Blows Up

LOVELL, Wyo. (AP) — An oil well in a Wyoming field blew out Tuesday, claiming the lives of two men.

A Mobil Producing Co. spokesman said the well was being reworked and pump rods being pulled from the well casing when it blew, filling the area with oil and poisonous hydrogen - sulfide gas.

Herb Pittman, 39, and Ken Pomeroy, about 30, both of Powell, were overcome by fumes and fell face first into a pool of oil. Two workmen who attempted to save them were overcome but were rescued by other workmen.

Receipts Top Expenses

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's state government took in more money than it paid out during the first three months of the current fiscal year, Auditor James A. Rhodes reported Tuesday. He said state receipts from July 1 through Sept. 30 were $483,724,541 and expenditures were $435,752,215. That put spending 38 million dollars ahead of the same period last year, but receipts up 109 million.

Driver Breaks International Speed Marks

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (AP) — America's fastest automobile driver headed for his California home today richer by four international speed records and wiser by at least two brushes with death.

Mickey Thompson, 30, of El Monte, Calif., in three days of running on the salt flats of western Utah, smashed four international speed marks that have stood since the late English driver John Cobb, set them in 1939.

In one of Thompson's record attempts Tuesday, his oxygen mask tube broke loose in the fume-choked cockpit behind the roaring four engines of his racer, Challenger I. Thompson drove the car with an oxygen tube in his mouth in order to prevent being overcome by the fumes. Earlier in the week his car skidded off the course and sustained some dents.

Thompson was deeply discouraged Tuesday night when high winds and rain forced him to cancel an attempt on the world's top automobile speed of 394.2 m.p.h. set here in 1947 by Cobb.

Denison U. Will Honor Greatest Football Team

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

GRANVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Denison University turns back the clock 45 years this weekend as it pays homage to its greatest football team.

That's the team of 1914—a 25-man squad which gave the Big Red its only state gridiron championship; which played Ohio's first game under lights; which defeated mighty Miami 40-33, and which sent four of its stalwarts on to professional football.

Four members of that team of amost a half-century ago—Nelson (Knocky) Rupp, George Roudebush, Carl (Dutch) Thiele and Dr. Dave Reese—are still on Denison's all-time team.

"Uncle Dave" Reese, now the commissioner of the Mid-American Conference and formerly one of the nation's top-flight game officials, will pass up three games in his own circuit to return to the campus where he gained his athletic fame.

Of the 25-man squad 14 have died. Of the other 13, only two will miss the homecoming.

The 1914 Miami game, tagged as the first under the lights, started as an afternoon fray. But darkness fell, and automobile headlights of cars parked all around the gridiron were turned on to illuminate the field.

The four named to the all-time Big Red team played their pro football with the old Dayton Triangles in the National Football League. Only other Denisonian to reach the pro ranks was the late Mike Gregory of Granville.

Back in the teens Ohio State was included in the state basketball rankings, but Denison took the Buckeye championship in 1912-13, 1913-14 and 1914-15. Of the nine men on the cage squad, eight were footballers.

It was in 1913 that the Denisons acquired the nickname of "Big Red," and it was applied first to the basketball team. Three of the starting quintet were 6-2, and the other two were six feet tall — a small team today but a huge one in those days.

Don Ladd, quarterback, and Floyd Stankard, guard, will travel the greatest distance for the homecoming. Both live near San Francisco.

Alston, Lopez Play Furious Chess Contest

By TED SMITS

Associated Press Sports Editor

CHICAGO (AP) — For once a drama-packed World Series game has come up that seems almost impervious to second-guessing.

Managers Al Lopez of the Chicago White Sxo and Walter Alston of the Los Angeles Dodgers played a furious game of chess Tuesday and the Sox won 1-0, but it would be hard to fault any of the moves.

In the seventh Lopez took out left fielder Jim McAnany, shifted Al Smith from right to left and put Jim Rivera in right. Two men were on base and two out. Rivera immediately made a spectacular running catch of Charlie Neal's long drive to right center. It is doubtful if Smith would have been fast enough to do it.

In the eighth, again with two on and two out but with the Sox at bat, Alston walked to the mound to confer with pitcher Stan Williams, and decided to leave him in. Williams got Jim Landis to fly to center.

Alston nominated six pinch hitters in all. One — Ron Fairly — never got to the plate, Rip Repulski taking his place. Two drew walks and the fact the other three — including the redoubtable Carl Furillo — didn't get hits can be blamed on the breaks of the game rather than the manager.

For a game so full of thrills it was singularly devoid of batting stars. It is difficult to heap much honor on Sherman Lollar, whose fourth-inning grounder brought in the lone sox run. It was a double play ball and Lollar didn't even get an RBI.

True, Junior Gilliam of the Dodgers made four consecutive singles and tied a series record for four hits in a single game — but in the all important ninth inning he grounded out to second.

Gil Hodges came as close as possible to being the star of the Dodgers. He hit a mighty triple to center in the fourth with one out but was left stranded when Don Demeter grounded out to the mound and John Roseboro popped to Luis Aparicio.

Group Studies Ohio River For Recreation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Cincincinnati is site of a proposed six-state conference called by Ohio officials to iron out problems of using the Ohio River for recreation.

Through the years, fishermen have run afoul of Kentucky fishing laws because under law Kentucky extends across the river to the low water mark on the Ohio side.

West Virginia holds similar control over that part of the river passing its boundaries.

Herbert Eagon, Ohio natural resources director, Tuesday proposed the Cincinnati conference for Nov. 9 with Kentucky, West Virginia, Indiana, Pennsylvania and Illinois officials.

Hayden Olds, chief of the Ohio Division of Wildlife, proposed last May that Ohio enter into agreements with other states for a recreation boundary down the middle of the river.

State officials have noted some conflict because of the low water mark boundary. They expect even more when new high level dams at New Richmond, Ohio, and Markland, Ind., are completed, raising the low water mark to new levels.

State conservation officials say Ohio anglers can fish in the Ohio River if they stand on Ohio shore. But they must have a Kentucky license to fish from a boat—even a boat tied to the Ohio shore.

Officials of the states may also at the conference talk over boating laws. West Virginia and Ohio now have agreed to recognize boats registered in one of the two states.

Crowning Slated At Friday Game For ELHS Queen

The 1959 Homecoming queen of East Liverpool High School will be crowned at halftime ceremonies Friday night at the East Liverpool-Bellaire St. John's game.

Five senior girls have been nominated by a vote of the student body. They are Debbie Dawson, Marsha Franklin, Grace Hutchman, Carol Muenster and Caroline Rockwood.

The name of the queen won't be revealed until the ceremony with the other four serving as her attendants.

The candidates will be escorted to the center of the field following their entrance into the stadium in a motorcade. Following the announcement of the queen, she will be crowned by Bruce Jones, president of the Student Council, and presented with a bouquet.

The high school band has planned a special program for the event.

The Boosters Club, which sponsors the homecoming, also has planned a dance Saturday night from 8:30 to 11 in Memorial Auditorium..

Gradual Retirement Seen As Ted Williams' Goal

By FRANK ECK

This was in a 15th floor room of a Grand Central Station hotel where the Boston Red Sox stay when they visit the New York Yankees. It was three hours before Boston's last night game on the road and Ted Williams was slumping in a chair with the heels of his black shoes on the bedspread.

"Met Tex McDonald," Williams said. "He's a hunting pal of mine from Minneapolis. He's one guy who doesn't care what I hit."

Williams could have been thinking of the time this writer mentioned that his .350 lifetime batting average was a thing of the past because at 41 he couldn't play left field regularly or hit .300 plus, a bracket he had known since 1939 when he first reached the majors as a youngster of 20.

When's the big announcement?

"The big announcement on what?" Williams asked.

You were going to tell about your plans for 1960.

"Oh, that," replied the greatest hitter baseball has known in the last 20 years. "I know what I'm going to do and what I want to do. I'm going to let it happen gradually."

Somehow the rangy left-handed hitter who has won five American League batting titles brought to mind Eddie Arcaro, 43-year-old dean of the jockeys.

"I don't know when I'll retire," Arcaro said a few years ago. "I'll let it come gradually. I'd be lost without a horse."

That seems to be the way Williams feels. He is letting his retirement as a player come gradually. He enjoys two things. One is swinging a bat, the other fishing in the Florida Keys.

He abhors spring baseball training, especially when it means traveling for exhibition games. The Red Sox, including owner Tom Yawkey, who pays him about $125,000 a year, and Manager Billy Jurges, want him back next spring, but Williams says he intends to spend a good part of next spring fishing. He may miss part of spring training to conserve his energy.

"You know," Williams said, "just before Leo Durocher quit his television job I told him if he were coming back to baseball as a manager I'd carry his bags."

Williams arose and gave the impression of having a suitcase in each hand.

"Can't you just picture me carrying Leo's bags? 'Make way, here comes Durocher,' I'd say. I'd go with him."

Whether Williams would go with Durocher as a coach or make a bid for his television job wasn't clear, and the slugger didn't intend to clarify it.

"Pull those shades down," Williams ordered his hunting friend. "I won't be able to see tonight."

The draperies were pulled over the window to prevent the late afternoon sun from bouncing off the wall mirror into Ted's batting eyes.

Williams still had the desire to swing a bat although since Aug. 27 he had done nothing but pinch hit. He still takes care of the sharp eyes which helped him become the last batter to hit .400 back in 1941.

The apple of his eye, however, is his daughter, Bobby Jo. He took from his suitcase a photo wallet containing 12 of Bobby Jo's pictures.

"She's something. She's 12 now," papa Williams enthused. "She is tall and looks just like her pop."

But Bobby Jo will never be able to swing a bat or hit a baseball like her pop. Maybe nobody will.

Deliberate Style Of Ball Promised By ELHS Mentor

Modern day basketball coaches, seemingly a legion in regards to employing "race horse" styles of offense and two-platooning their opponents, apparently have a nonconformist amidst their ranks in East Liverpool High's new mentor, Jim Harris.

Harris, employed this summer as successor to John Karaffa, told the Rotary Club Tuesday that the 1959 Potters will operate offensively from a deliberate style of attack — geared to comply with precisioned patterns he will devise for use this winter.

Furthermore, the former Potter great pointed out, his starting five will shoulder most of the responsibility of producing a winning season as his personal philosophy includes the theory of making only limited substitutions.

The 32 - year - old Potter all-stater boasts a record in four years of coaching that gives strength to his intentions.

Since leaving East Liverpool and entering the coaching field, Harris' teams have produced 62 victories and 27 defeats, a fine record and unique in the fact that his coaching strategy is directly opposed to most others in the era of high - scoring games.

"I base my coaching ideas on desire," Harris commented, "as I am a great believer in getting the kids that really want to play for my team." He added that no one player would be either "coddled" or "pampered" and that they would make the squad on merit alone.

Harris told the club that one of his coaching policies is to eliminate as many unneeded seniors as possible so that younger sophomores and juniors can get more experience.

"I'll not be cruel in cutting the seniors," Harris said, "but the elimination process is one of the lousiest jobs connected with coaching." "However, he added, "you don't win on sentiment."

"I like to keep my sophomores on the junior varsity and make up my starting five from mostly juniors and maybe a few seniors."

He indicated that he would not keep more than eight players dressed for varsity games with the remainder to be selected from the reserve squad.

Regarding substitutitions, Harris commented that "I like to get five horses and go with them." "Part of my theory is don't substitute freely so that the first five can jell and learn to work together," he added.

Harris refused to do any crystal ball gazing into the season's prospects, but said he approached every season with the idea of finishing on the winning side of the ledger.

He was introduced by Sam Brown, who was program chairman.

Perfect...

... for the guests who come to dinner and stay all night. These twin half-lounges have that luxury-look and no wonder! Innerspring construction with coils aplenty; decorator fabrics covering the way-down deep tufting. May be used to furnish corner or placed flat against a wall. Opposite ends slide out easily to form full-length single beds. Available also in leather-like Boltaflex.

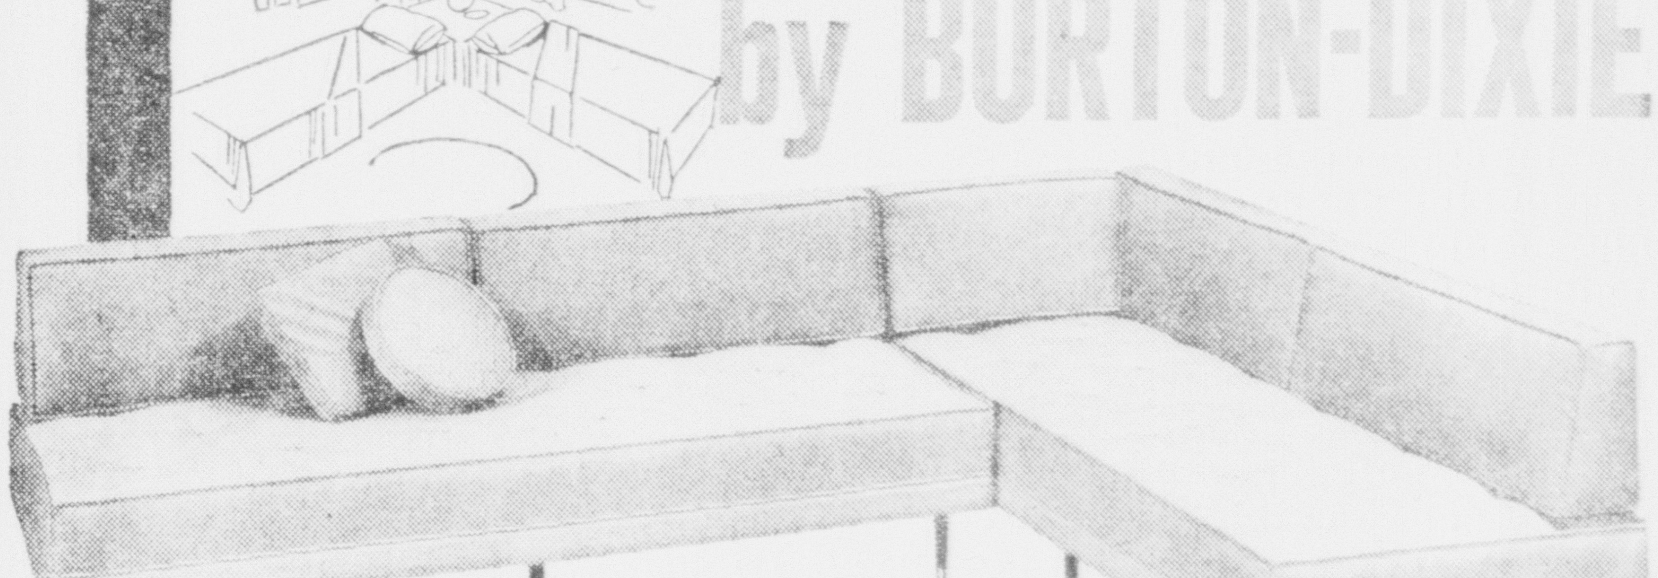
the original BUR-LOUNGER by BURTON-DIXIE



Today's greatest and most versatile furniture buy

Follow the trend to versatility for dramatic decorating results. These twin Bur-Loungers form sectionals (an additional bolster cleverly fills corner); makes a corner arrangement; may be placed back to back; straight against a wall or gracefully flank a fireplace. Remove bolsters and they also serve as full-length beds!—thereby making an extra bedroom out of your den or living room.

Pavement Plato

Few Sidewalk Comments

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Sidewalk comments of a pavement Plato:

Most people are surest of what they do not know.

For example, many feel that folk more famous than themselves have better solved the puzzlement of living.

Haven't you ever envied a celebrity? Haven't you ever pondered what he or she had that you don't have?

Well, whether it was the ears-against-the-world assurance of Clark Gable, the relaxed billowiness of Marilyn Monroe, or the stentorian frontier of John Foster Dulles, they all shared one thing with you.

Yes, sir, you have one thing in common with them. All people do. The thing you share is naievete.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has it, the lady next door has it, the man who picks up the garbage has it.

Everybody has an opinion. High or low. They are all sure in their own minds about certain things.

But the human mind is a funny thing. The more it insists on the acceptance of one idea, or a series of ideas, the more vulnerable it is to ideas which it is unsure of. Naivete creeps in.

It is partly the old saying come true that "a salesman who can sell can be sold."

Behind the wisest man who ever lived was an eternal naivete, either about himself or others. His confidence cloaked a doubt. When the busy voice was stilled and the tireless limbs rested, doubt came and whispered, "What you are so much about, is it so? Is this all?"

The question came to Alexander, to Napoleon, to the old lady next door.

To be naive is to be human. To be nonnaive is to be divine.

Naivete is such a hard thing to define in a world of twilight words. Is the woman who stamps out a variant bloom that disturbs the plan of her garden naive? Is the statesman who stamps out an idea that will force him to regroup his thought naive? Is a mother who is sure her favorite son is marrying himself into a marital hell naive? Is father who envies the same boy going into a marital heaven naive?

Ah, so, as the Japanese say. It is so. The power that is freckles with dandelions the lawn that doesn't wish them, pimples the face that yearns to be flawless, troubles the mind that would be restful, interrupts the peace we yearn for but do not have, confutes with fresh views the old vistas we were sure were scenic enough for our time.

Grudgingly we grow. To be naive is to be alive.

How Can I

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I remedy a carpet on which the pile has become matted down through pressure?

A. You can bring this back to normal with a hot iron over a damp cloth, after which the rug should be brushed vigorously. Repeat the process several times if the pressure spot is still prominent.

Q. How can I tighten a slip cover on a chair?

A. Try pushing small cardboard rolls, such as those on which cellophane wrapping is sold, into the back of the chair seat and along each side of the seat.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Short Sizes Appear Younger Than Half Sizes

Ida Jean Kain

What makes the half size dresses more matronly than regular sizes? The answer is this: The half sizes are proportioned wider through the middle measurement.

Use this as a challenge. Instead of finding fault with half size styles, alter your figure. The short sizes are designed for short women with average measurements. Make the short size your aim.

For example: If you wear a half size, say an 18½, with slight alterations in your figure you can wear an 18 short. To understand what is needed, here are the measurements for both sizes: Size 18½ — bust 41, waist 33½, abdomen 40½, hips 42. In size 18 short, the measurements are slimmer — bust 39½, waist 31, abdomen 37½, hips 42.

BETWEEN THE two sizes there is a difference of 1½ inches only through the bust measurement. The biggest difference is in the middle — 2½ inches in the waistline and 3 inches through the abdominal extension.

On the weight score, average weight for size 18 short is 152 pounds; for size 18½, 160 pounds. If you now wear size 18½, with eight pounds off in the right places, you will be able to slip into an 18 diminutive and you'll feel years younger.

Being short, you will always need to curb calories in order to control weight. The greatest favor you can do yourself is to change to an eating pattern that will stimulate your system to burn more food and at the same time help you to change your food habits from fattening to slimming.

To make your calories count for good nutrition, your meals should consist largely of the protective foods — lean meats, eggs, cheese, cottage cheese, skim milk or buttermilk, fresh fruits, vegetables and limited bread and butter.

To feel satisfied, include a protein food at every meal — an egg at breakfast; lean meat or cottage cheese and skim milk at lunch; lean meat, fish or fowl at dinner. Late afternoon have an energy pick-up such as hot tea with a cube of cheese, a glass of buttermilk or orange juice.

GET THE RIGHT eating pattern and it isn't difficult to reduce your weight and slim your measurements. Keep your reducing calories around 1,000 daily. Most important, get into the habit of trimming off all fats, for fats boost the calories.

Exercise is the slimming measure. Stretching combined with side-bending is particularly helpful for slimming the waist measurement. Strong contraction exercise movements are necessary to flatten the abdomen.

Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for "Take Your Measure" and "Away With The Middle Spread." Address your requests to Ida Jean Kain in care of this newspaper. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

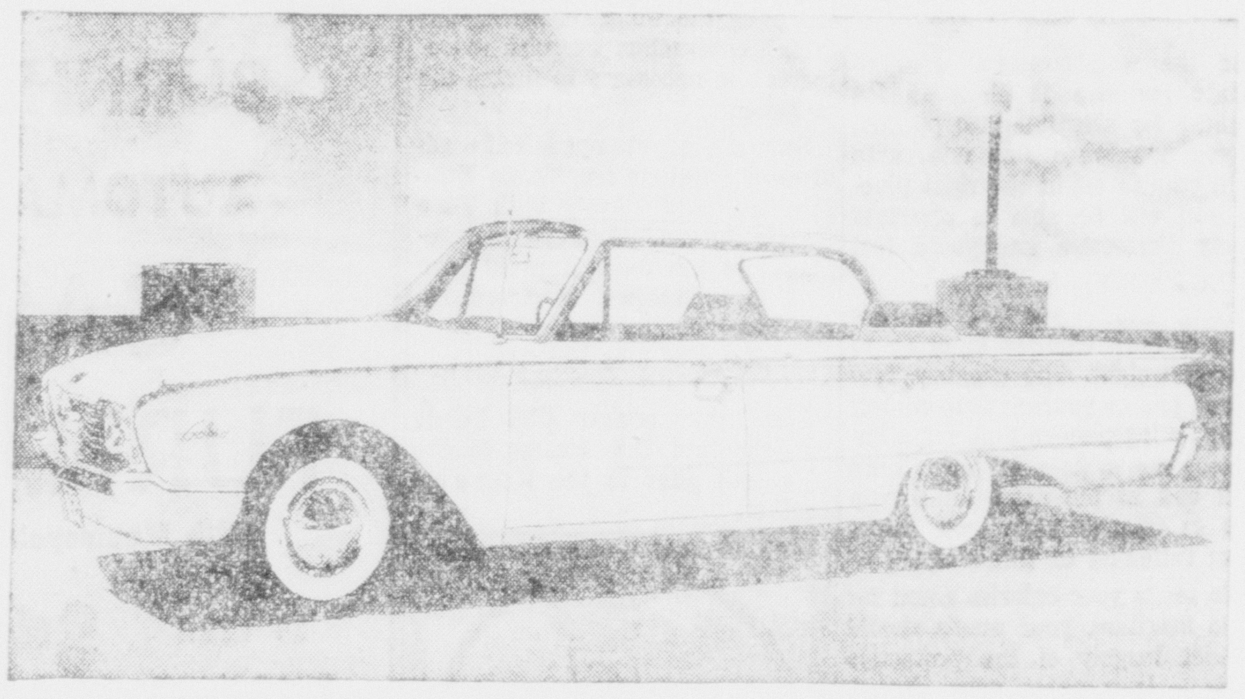
New Cars Due Thursday

1960 Fords And Falcon Awaited



The 1960 Ford line of 15 models includes the Galaxie Town Victoria, shown here, which reflects the all-new styling of the other models. The cars will go on display Thursday at Carroll Motors Sales, Inc., 740 Dresden Ave., and Wells Motors, 420 Broadway, Wellsville.

The Falcon, Ford's new compact car, also makes its debut. At the low end of the Ford line is the Fairlane series, which includes a two- and four-door sedan and a business Tudor. In the Fairlane 500 series are two models, a two- and four-door sedan. The popular Galaxie series, with its own Thunderbird-styled roof, includes a two- and four-door sedan, plus a four - door hardtop called the Town Victoria.

The Starliner, a new two-door hardtop entry in the Ford line, is one of two special models.

The other special model is the Sunliner, Ford's soft-top convertible.

Better stability and improved handling have been accomplished partly through a wider tread, but mostly through the widening of the rear spring base. Two full inches have been added to the front tread width and nearly four inches to the rear tread.

In the station wagon field, Ford offers five different models with a longer load space, greater passenger comfort and more versatility. They range from the two-door Ranch Wagon to the elegant four-door, nine-passenger Country Squire with simulated mahogany paneling.

The load space in the 1960 Ford station wagons is nearly a foot longer than last year, and the tail gate opens flush with the floor.

All standard Ford engines — both "six" and V-8 — are designed to operate on regular grade gasoline. Ford offers four modern, short-stroke engines for 1960 for efficiency, durability and economy with easy service.

The Ford engine line-up for 1960 includes the economical 145-horsepower Mileage-Maker Six; the 185-horsepower, 292 cu. in. V-8; the 235-horsepower, 352 cu. in. V-8 with two-barrel carburetor, and the 300-horsepower, 352 cu. in. power option V-8 with four-barrel carburetor.

Completing the power train selection are two automatic transmissions and an improved synchromesh manual transmission, which also is available with overdrive.

The Falcon, which features unitized construction to combine maximum strength and rigidity with minimum weight for this type of vehicle, is offered in two-door and four - door models. Optional equipment will include automatic transmission, radio, heater, safety padding, seat belts, tinted glass, and interior and exterior deluxe trim.

Falcon styling is simple and functional, with decorative trim and chrome at a minimum.

The luggage compartment has 24½ cubic feet of space — nearly twice the space of the two top imported cars combined.

The new overhead - valve, water - cooled Falcon engine has a piston displacement of 144 cubic inches and a 3½-inch bore with 2½-inch stroke.

A new type of brake system features nine - inch brakes — largest in the industry for this size of car — and reduced pedal effort to compare with that of power brakes; 13-inch wheels; a 12 - volt electrical system, and large, parallel - operating windshield wipers.

West Virginia's Coal Production Ahead Of 1958

CHARLESTON (AP) — West Virginia coal output of 73,700,889 tons reported to the State Mines Department for the first eight months of this year continued ahead of 1958 production, despite steel strike effects in July and August.

The eight-month total compared with 70,682,220 tons for the same portion of 1958. August output of 8,815,343 tons, however, was off from 9,469,444 tons in August last year.

Average production employment in the coal fields was 39,754 for the eight-month period, well below the comparable 1958 figure of 46,762.

Employment reported to the department for August totaled only 34,889, as against 43,232 for the same months in 1958.

Tons of coal mined per fatal accident ran 1,169,855 through August. The comparable 1958 figure was 981,698 tons.

The new report showed that 69,780,103 tons of the coal produced through August came from underground operations. Auger and surface mining accounted for 3,920,786 tons.

County Jail Receives 35 During September

LISBON — Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan reported a total of 35 prisoners were received at the County Jail during September in addition to 41 already confined as of Sept. 1. Forty-two were released during the month and three were conveyed to state institutions.

Some 3,626 meals were served for a total cost of $1,142.72, making the average daily cost per prisoner 94½ cents for daily food.

Sheriff VanFossan said 312 papers were served and 5,194 transmissions were handled along with 1,042 phone calls at the jail. Fees totaling $899.58 were collected.

There were 235 visitors at the jail during the month. Visiting days are Tuesday and Thursday afternoon.

Underwood Fills Seat In House Of Delegates

Hevener, a Democrat, fills a vacancy created by the resignation of Del. Frank P. McLaughlin (D-Pocahontas) some time ago to accept a position in the State Agriculture Department.

Hevener was one of three nominess of the Pocahontas County Democratic Executive Committee for the House post. He is a business man who also has farm holdings.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY MEYERS

Methods Of Teaching Reading Vary

By Garry Meyers

In many elementary schools the child of the first or second grade is not allowed to take home his regular reading book. When a teacher is asked her reason for this, she explains that his parents may read from this book to the child. Therefore, the child may lose his zest for the stories in his reading class at school. Also, the parents may try to teach the youngster to read from this book in ways conflicting with the teacher's method. The teacher may have been directed by her supervisor not to let the child take home his basic reading book. Too, this teacher may have been trained in a teachers' college to do this. So we must not be hard on her.

FOR YEARS I have heard these arguments but have not been strongly impressed with them. As any parent may know, the more often a young child has heard a story read, the more he may like it.

As for wrong methods by the parent, of teaching the young child to read, some reading experts are now saying that there's no proof available that any one method of teaching reading is the best. Some are noting that there may be merit in variety of approach, such as the home may afford.

There is, however, a problem of proper concern to the teacher — the tendency of some parents to grow vexed and impatient with the child while teaching him to read or learn anything from books. It might be better for these parents not to have the child bring his reader home, unless the teacher can win the parents to be calm and patient with the child when helping him learn to read.

HOWEVER, THE child beginning to read usually is eager to take his reading book home to show his parents and others how well he can read. Many wise teachers meet this need and still keep the basic reading books at school by letting the child take home a very easy book from the school library. Or they advise the parents to select such books from their local library or buy them.

Yet a great many children don't have this privilege. There are many homes where children have no books at all. This would seem to be most frequent in homes of limited means — a penalty for being poor.

But practically all parents who really care could borrow or buy books to read to their child, or for him to read.

If you child is not allowed to bring home his primer or first reader, I would advise you to accept the school's way. But make sure, if at all possible, that your child has other books as easy and as interesting to him.

Electronic Device Dims Headlights Automatically

By ED MORSE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — An electronic device which automatically dims your headlights when an approaching car comes within 1,200 feet is among new products this week.

Called the "Hi-Way-I," the device is made by Electronics Corp. of America, Cambridge, Mass. The firm notes that many states require that headlights be dimmed when nearing another vehicle. The device also dims the lights when you come from behind to within 100 to 200 feet of the car ahead.

Devcon Corp., Danvers, Mass., now offers Devcon aluminum, a composition of about 80 per cent aluminum and 20 per cent plastic. The firm recommends this mouldable substance for use not only in repairing aluminum objects, but also for bonding wood, steel, bronze, glass and porcelain.

Reynolds Metals Co., Richmond, Va., now offers gold potato wrap, a gold-colored aluminum foil made specifically for baking and serving potatoes, lending a touch of glamor.

A new form of Du Pont's "orlon" acrylic fiber, called orlon 21, is now in production. The company says the new fiber offers much greater elasticity and shape-holding qualities in sweaters, helping them retain shape after washings.

A new television antenna, devised to replace the familiar "rabbit ears," is offered by Jerrold Electronics Corp., Philadelphia, Pa. This "TV-receptor" is a six-inch device which slips over the television set power cord and is said to work on an entirely new reception principle.

Man, 38, Beats Ex-Lover Then Kills Himself

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 38-year-old man apparently committed suicide Tuesday after beating his 22-year-old former lover when he failed in a reconciliation attempt.

The woman, Audrey Perry, was beaten with a revolver butt. She was listed in poor condition at a local hospital.

The body of Harold C. Lipscomb, a bullet through his right temple and a suicide note in his pocket, was found in the woman's East Side apartment. She was found unconscious on a rug near the living room couch, the gun under her.

Detective Clarence Jackman said Miss Perry regained consciousness briefly and told him that she formerly lived with Lipscomb and that he was the father of her 21-month-old child, now living with a grandmother in Thompson, Pa.

She also told the detective Lipscomb had met her Tuesday morning when she was about to enter the plant where she worked. She said he forced her to go back to the apartment. When she refused his pleas to return to him, Miss Perry told the detective, Lipscomb drew the revolver and started shooting wildly about the room.

1. SALE OF SURPLUS WATER OR SEWAGE SERVICE

Proposing to amend section 6 of Article XVIII of the constitution of the state of Ohio relative to the sale of the surplus product of municipal owned water and sewage systems.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, Three-fifths of the members of each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state, in the manner prescribed by law, at the election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1959, a proposition to amend section 6 of Article XVIII of the Constitution of the state of Ohio as follows:

ARTICLE XVIII

Sec. 6. Any municipality, owning or operating a public utility for the purpose of supplying the service or product thereof to the municipality or its inhabitants, may also sell and deliver to others any transportation service of such utility and the surplus product of any other utility in an amount not exceeding in either case fifty per  cent of the total service or product supplied by such utility within the municipality, provided that such fifty per cent limitation shall not apply to the sale of water or sewage services.

SCHEDULE

At the election herein designated for the submission of this amendment to the electors of the state of Ohio, the same shall be placed on the official ballot in the manner prescribed by law and shall be designated as follows:

YES	Shall section 6 of Article XVIII of the Constitution of the state of Ohio be amended to remove the limitation on the sale of water and sewage services by municipalities outside their corporate limits?
NO

The required publication of the said proposed amendment shall be made and the form of ballot to be used in said election for the submission thereof shall be prepared by the secretary of state of the state of Ohio in substantial conformity with the above provisions. If a majority of the electors voting on the foregoing proposed amendments at the election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1959, adopt the same, it shall be part of the Constitution of the state of Ohio and existing section 6 of Article XVIII shall thereupon be repealed.

2. ADDTIONAL JUDGES IN COURTS OF APPEALS

Proposing to amend section 6 of Article IV of the constitution of the state of Ohio to authorize the legislature to provide for additional judges in courts of appeals.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, Three-fifths of the members of each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state, in the manner prescribed by law, at the general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1959, a proposition to amend section 6 of Article IV of the constitution of the state of Ohio as follows:

ARTICLE IV

Sec. 6. The state shall be divided into appellate districts of compact territory bounded by county lines, in each of which there shall be a court of appeals consisting of three judges. Laws may be passed increasing the number of judges in any district wherein the volume of business may require such additional judge or judges. In districts having additional judges, three judges shall participate in the hearing and disposition of each case. Vacancies caused by the expiration of the terms of office of the judges of the courts of appeals shall be filled by the electors of the respective appellate districts in which such vacancies shall arise. Until otherwise provided by law the term of office of such judges shall be six years. Laws may be passed to prescribe the time and mode of such election and the qualifications of such judges, and to alter the number of districts or the boundaries thereof, but no such change shall abridge the term of any judge then in office. The court of appeals shall hold at least one term annually in each county in the district and such other terms at a county seat in the district as the judges may determine upon, and the county commissioners of any county in which the court of appeals shall hold sessions shall make proper and convenient provisions for the holding of such court by its judges and officers. Each judge shall be competent to exercise judicial powers in any appellate district of the state.

The courts of appeals shall have original jurisdiction in quo warranto, mandamus, habeas corpus, prohibition and procedendo, and such jurisdiction as may be provided by law to review, affirm, modify, set aside, or reverse judgments or final orders of boards, commissions, officers, or tribunals, and of courts of record inferior to the court of appeals within the district, and judgments of the courts of appeals shall be final in all cases, except cases involving questions arising under the constitution of the United States or of this state, cases of felony, cases of which it has original jurisdiction, and cases of public or great general interest in which the supreme court may direct any court of appeals to certify its record to that court. No judgment of any court of record entered on the verdict of the jury shall be set aside or reversed on the weight of the evidence except by the concurrence of all three judges of a court of appeals. Only a majority of such court of appeals shall be necessary to pronounce a decision, make an order or enter judgment, upon all other questions; and whenever the judges of a court of appeals find that a judgment upon which they have agreed is in conflict with a judgment pronounced upon the same question by any other court of appeals of the state, the judges shall certify the record of the case to the supreme court for review and final determination. The decisions in all cases in the supreme court shall be reported, together with the reasons therefor, and laws may be passed providing for the reporting of cases in the courts of appeals. The chief justice of the supreme court of the state may assign any judge of the court of appeals to any county to hold court. The chief justice of the supreme court shall determine the disability or disqualification of any judge of the court of appeals. ***

SCHEDULE

If a majority of the electors voting on the foregoing proposed amendment at the general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1959, adopt the same, it shall become part of the constitution of the state of Ohio, and existing section 6 of Article IV shall thereupon be repealed.

3. METROPOLITAN FEDERATIONS

Proposing to amend Article X of the constitution of the state of Ohio by adding sections 5 and 6 thereto relative to metropolitan federations.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, Three-fifths of the members of each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state, in the manner prescribed by law, at the election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1959, a proposition to amend Article X of the constitution of the state of Ohio by adding thereto two new sections as follows:

ARTICLE X

Sec. 5. A metropolitan federation counties may be formed by charter of all townships, municipalities, and to serve the entire area of one or more contiguous counties if the most populous city of the area has a population of more than fifty thousand, based upon the last preceding federal census. A metropolitan federation of contiguous townships or municipalities or both may be formed by charter to serve an area of less than a county if the most populous city of the county is included in the area and has a population of more than fifty thousand, based upon the last preceding federal census.

Within the area proposed to be included in the metropolitan federation, the legislative authority of the most populous city or the board of county commissioners of the county containing the most populous city may, by a two-thirds vote of its members, or shall, upon a petition stating the area to be included and signed by the number of electors of such stated area not less in number than ten per cent of the total number of votes cast for governor at the last preceding election therefor, by resolution stating the area to be included, order the submission to the electors of such area the question, "Shall a metropolitan federation charter commission be chosen?" The question shall be voted upon at the next general or primary election, occurring not sooner than ninety days after the adoption of the resolution. The ballot containing the question shall bear no party designation. Provision shall be made thereon for the election from the area at large of fifteen electors as the commission. Candidates for such commission shall be nominated by petition of not less than one hundred nor more than five hundred electors of the metropolitan area, and the petition shall be filed with the election officials of the county containing the most populous city not less than sixty days prior to such election. Candidates shall be declared elected in the order of the number of votes received, beginning with the candidate receiving the largest number; but no more than seven candidates residing in the same municipality or township shall be eligible to be declared elected provided that if the proposed federation be of only two political subdivisions, eight of the candidates may reside in either subdivision. Within eighteen months after its election, the commission shall frame a charter for the area stated in the resolution and shall then by resolution order the submission of the same to the electors of the area. Such charter shall be voted upon in such area at the next general election occurring not sooner than ninety days after the adoption of the resolution, and the election officials of the county or the secretary of state, if more than one county is involved, shall mail or otherwise distribute a copy thereof to each of the electors of the area as far as may be reasonably possible.

Every charter shall provide the form of government of the metropolitan federation and shall provide for the periodic election by the electors of the metropolitan federation of the officers exercising legislative power or legislative and executive powers and the principal officer exercising executive power thereunder. A charter may state which other officers shall be elected. The charter shall set forth the powers granted to and vested in the metropolitan federation and the duty or duties to be performed by the metropolitan federation. The charter may provide for the concurrent or exclusive exercise by the federation in all or part of its area of all or any of the powers vested by the constitution or laws of Ohio in townships, municipalities, or counties, except that no power of the kind exercised only by counties may be granted by a charter to a federation which does not include the entire area of one or more counties. Only such powers as are granted in the charter may be exercised by the federation and those powers not granted shall be reserved to the townships, municipalities, and any county included therein. The charter may provide for the succession by the federation to the rights, properties, and obligations of townships, municipalities, and counties therein incident to the municipal and county power vested in the federation, and for the division of the federation into districts for purposes of administration or of taxation or of both. Notwithstanding anything contained in any other article of this constitution, municipal powers and duties, and county powers and duties where one or more counties are to be included in the area, may be granted to the metropolitan federation and to the extent that such powers and duties are so granted as provided in the charter, such metropolitan federation shall participate in the distribution of township, municipal, and county revenues.

No charter or amendment thereto shall become effective until it has been approved by a majority of those voting thereon:

(1) in the entire area included by the provisions of the charter,

(2) in the most populous city in the included area,

(3) in the area outside the most populous city in the area, and

(4) in each county in the included area. Every charter or amendments thereto shall take effect on the thirtieth day after approval unless another date be fixed therein. A copy of the charter or amendment shall be filed with the secretary of state.

The legislative authority provided for in the charter may, by a two-thirds vote, or shall upon petition signed by the number of electors of the area not less in number than ten per cent of the total number of votes cast for governor in the area at the last preceding election therefor, submit amendments to the charter to the electors of the area for approval or disapproval in the same manner as provided for the adoption of the charter. Such legislative authority shall mail or otherwise distribute a copy thereof to each of the electors of the area as far as may be reasonably possible. When more than one amendment is submitted at the same time, the amendments shall be so submitted as to enable the electors to vote on each proposition separately. In case of conflict between the provisions of two or more amendments adopted at the same time, that provision shall prevail which received the highest affirmative vote.

With the consent of the legislative authority of the metropolitan federation, and upon petition signed by the number of electors of any adjoining county or any municipality or township contiguous to a metropolitan federation within the same county, not less in number than ten per cent of the total number of votes cast for governor at the last preceding election therefor, or by resolution of the county commissioners of such adjoining county, the question, "Shall the county or municipality or township be joined to the metropolitan federation?" shall be submitted to the electors of such county or area proposed to be joined. In any adjoining county, or in any municipality or township contiguous to a metropolitan federation within the same county in which a majority of the electors approve joining the federation, the charter shall become effective.

Sec. 6. The exercise of any power vested in municipal corporations under Article XVIII of this constitution by any county or metropolitan federation under the provisions of Sections 3 or 5 of this Article shall be subject to the constitutional limitations which apply to municipal corporations.

SCHEDULE

At the election herein designated for the submission of this amendment to the electors of the state of Ohio, the same shall be placed on the official ballot by the secretary of state in such form as the secretary of state may prescribe.

If a majority of the electors voting on the foregoing proposed amendment at the election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1959, adopt the same, it shall become part of the constitution of the state of Ohio.

Tax Case Settled Against Car Union

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — Income tax claims totaling $3,250,000 against 527 international representatives and officers of the United Auto Workers Union have been settled for $106,000, the Detroit Times reported.

The claims involved a dispute over whether a flat allotment of $7 a day in expense money paid union officers and representatives from 1955 to 1957 was in fact income.

Recipients did not have to account for the expense money. The government contended it should be counted as income. The union contended it was not income. Idividuals were called upon to show it went for expenses.

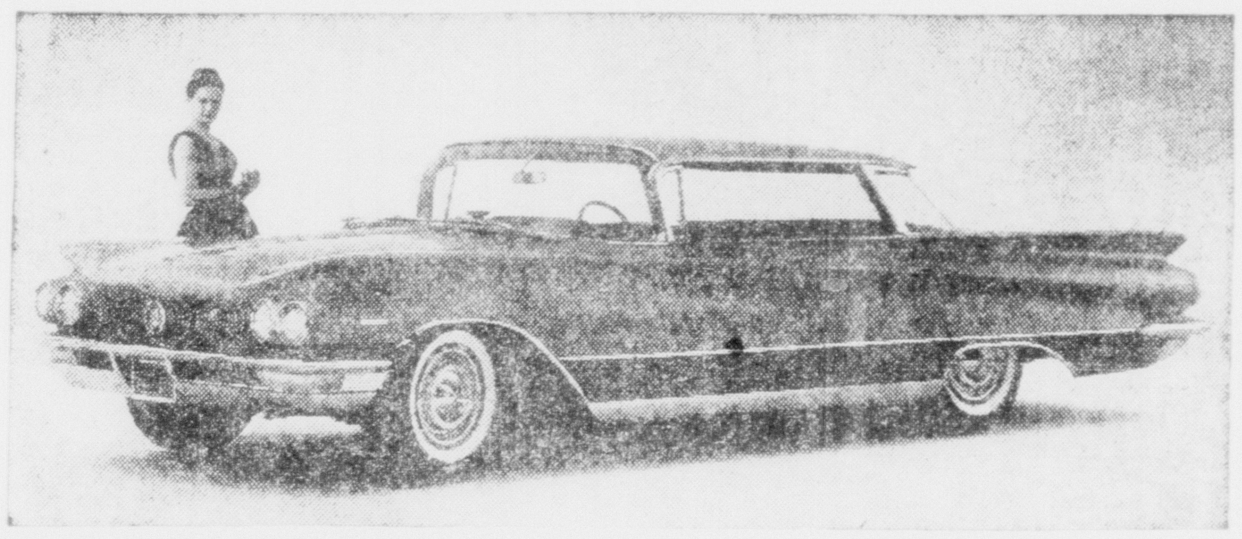
On Display At Turk's

Sculptured Styling Marks Buicks



The 1960 line of Buicks now at dealers features all-new sculptured styling, such as shown in this Electra 225 four-door hardtop on display at Mike Turk, Inc., 415 E. 6th St. The new cars also reflect increased roominess and improved roadability and performance.

Passenger comfort in all 19 models has been improved by lowering the transmission hump and floor in front and raising the seats to chair-height levels.

New features include a single transverse muffler which serves both dual and single exhaust systems, an adjustable instrument panel that can be tilted to any position for easier reading, and independent heater controls for both the front and rear seats.

Buick interiors, fashioned in bright, colorful designs, offer 74 choices of decorator-coordinated trims in long-wearing nylon, broadcloth, cordaveen and leather. Fully carpeted floors and cushioned instrument panels are standard equipment on all models. New deeper springs and plush polyurethane foam are standard seat materials.

Buick's traditional solid classic design is emphasized in 1960 through full-length sculptured styling. The deep sculpturing, fashioned without chrome moldings, creates an entirely new appearance for 1960. Rear fender lines have been rounded gracefully, too, and blend into a deep rear bumper.

The 1960 Buick is available in 3 series: LeSabre, lowest priced in the line; Invicta, the most spirited model, and Electra, the luxury series. They are identified by the ventiports, four on each front fender of the Electra series, and three on the Invicta and LeSabre.

Economical operation has been given special attention in engine design. LeSabre's 364-cubic inch engine is available in regular gasoline or premium gasoline options. The regular gasoline engine, a no-cost option, uses a two-barrel carburetor with a 9-to-1 compression ratio. Electra and Invicta models are powered by the improved 401-cubic inch Wildcat V-8 engine, with four-barrel carburetor and 10.25-to-1 compression ratio.

Buick's ultra-smooth turbine drive transmission is available on all models, as standard equipment on the Electra and Invicta and optional on LeSabre. The transmission has been improved so that engine speed at full throttle is reduced without sacrificing performance.

All models are roomier as the result of engineering refinements which have produced lower front floors for more leg room and allow chair-height seats. Redesign of the transmission permits lowering the hump in both front and rear passenger areas, and wider-opening rear doors assure easier entrance and exit.

Buick's finned aluminum front and cast iron rear brake drums have been given additional cooling action to further increase their award-winning efficiency.

Winter passenger comfort is assured by the 1960 Buick heater. Independent controls regulate heat to both passenger compartments proportionately, so that temperatures in the rear are the same as in the front.

New in the industry is Buick's mirromagic instrument panel which provides the driver with glare-proof gauge and speedometer readings, adjustable to any desirable position. It's done with a mirror, which can be tilted conveniently to any angle.

2 Ohio Lawmen Found Safe After Oklahoma Search

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP)—Two elderly Pickaway County, Ohio, lawmen escorting a prisoner ignited a search of Oklahoma City Tuesday night when they failed to check in with police. They were found unharmed early today in Joplin.

Joplin police said Sheriff Charles Radcliff, 75, of Circleville, Ohio, and his deputy, Harry Cross, 76, were registered at a motel here.

Radcliff and Cross are escorting Cartwright from Phoenix, Ariz., to Circleville in connection with a murder case. They left Albuquerque Monday night and were to have made Oklahoma City their next stop. However, they bypassed the city to stop in Joplin, another 250 miles east.

Police Lt. Harold Loyd of Oklahome City said Albuquerque police tipped that Cartwright had a key to his handcuffs and was very dangerous. This set off the search.

Joplin police said the report was erroneous. In Albuquerque, police said they had no knowledge of the report. And, Oklahoma City police said they didn't know the name of the officer who supplied the tip.
